Homecoming . . . A Night to Remember!

Homecoming - we remember the balloons, the cheering and the victorious conquer over the Pearland Oilers. However it wasn't all fun, a lot of hard work and preparation went into the building of some fantastic floats, a colorful town, an exciting parade and a dazzling bon fire.

As Tracy Johnson was crowned the 1984 Homecoming Queen, a mini parade went around the track. Leading the way was the Senior class with their winning "traditions", second place went to the Freshmen, Sophomores took third, and Honorable Mention went to Choir. And finally, to close the 1984 Homecoming festivities the first Homecoming Dance was held at COM by the Anchor Club. These memories that were made those few days will be in our minds and hearts for the rest of our lives.

Sharon Green shows her Cougar smile as she prepares the town for the coming activities.

As the third quarter came around the Cheerleaders presented a colorful message.

Is it Cleopatra? . . . No it's Aurdria Iles posing for a "fireside" picture.

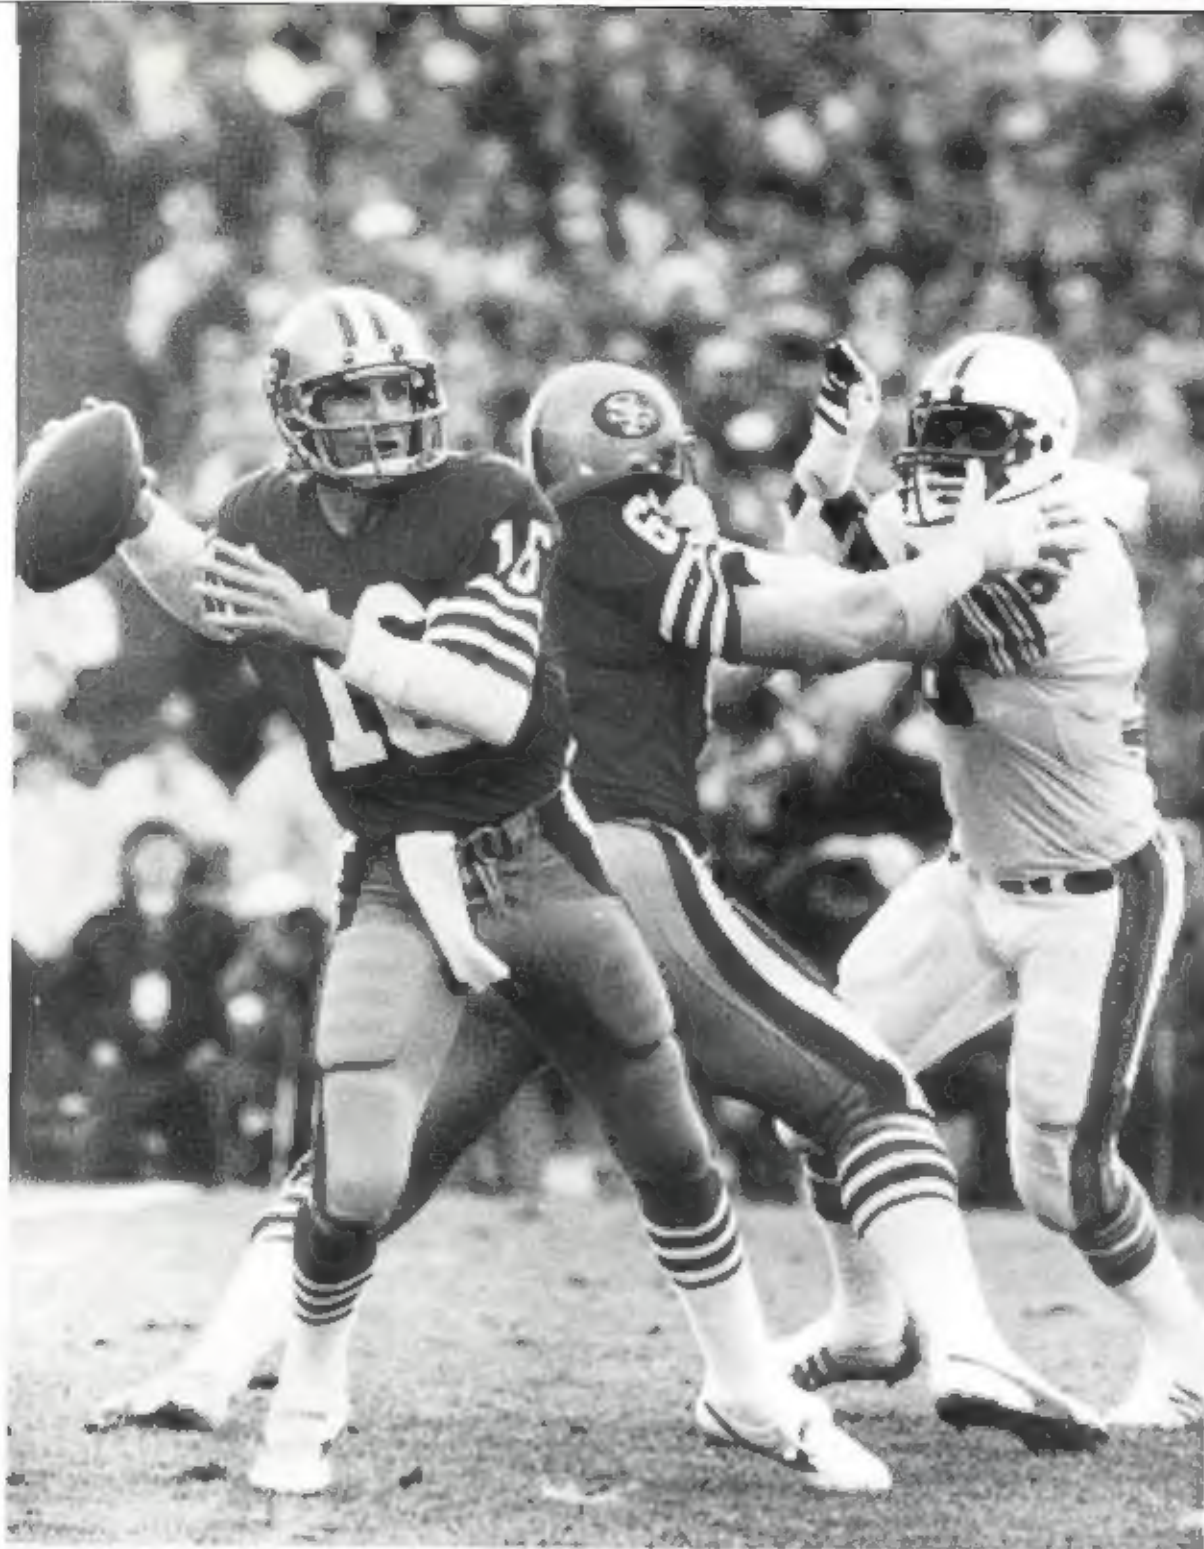

Not only do the fans give their support to the Cougars but the Band and the Mam'selles also play a major role in demonstrating Cougar Pride, as shown here while becoming acquainted with the Pearland band and drill team officers.

As nine o'clock rolled "around" the spectators began to roll "out". And as they walked on they took one last glance at Bonfire '84.

Lady Liberty celebrated her 98th birthday in 1984. A two-year restoration began in July 1984

House bill 72 hits with a “Bang”.

Even before school started people began to hear more and more about House Bill 72. Then school started and we “met” House Bill 72. Though some of changes didn’t affect us right away, they were there. Such changes as no Senior exemptions, limits put on the number of days that could be missed for school activities, and eligibility rules. There were also restrictions on pep rallies and on assemblies. All you heard from the class of 85 was, “I’m glad I’m getting out of here.” Education was the hottest topic on campus.

However we did have changes that didn’t involve House Bill 72. There was the new Freshman class and also many new additions to the teaching staff. Through all the changes and additions we still managed to have and keep a sense of pride and hope for what was to come next.

New eligibility requirements had a large impact on the sports programs.

School work comes first Edward Hennigan proves you have to work hard to play hard.

With academic requirements stiffening, students are having to hit the books.

Pep rallies and assemblies became fewer in number - a sign of things to come

Student Life

From bell bottoms to cropped pants, from long hair to 'Bobs' and from past memories to present memories. Students don't realize this but LMHS has been ageing; this year was the school's 15th birthday. A glance in the past reveals the dedication of Etheredge Stadium in 1971 with Mr. Jimmy Llewellyn as principal.

In 1973 the Vietnam War and mini skirts were a popular conversation topic. LMHS had a variety of clubs, numerous assemblies, and an annual Sadie Hawkins Day picnic.

In 1980 Coach Bundy introduced to LaMarque students Cougar Pride . . . More than just a motto. And eventually Mr. Arnold succeeded Mr. Llewellyn and Mr. Curtis Culwell arrived in 1984.

Now we look at today and tomorrow and Etheredge Stadium is still standing and our school motto is "Cougar Pride is what you make it." In 1985 we too shall go down in the history books as House Bill 72 takes its course and as each class leaves its own mark of individualism.

Homecoming 1985

Football, mums, balloons and streamers added pizzaz to this year's Homecoming.

Spirit was shown throughout the week when S.A.E.C. designated the days as shade, tie, balloon, ribbon, and clash day.

Balloons and fluorescent signs covered the sophomore section and aided in their victory at the Homecoming pep-rally. Even though the sophomores won, spirit was shown throughout all of the classes.

Floats paraded the streets during the Homecoming Parade. The "casual" senior class float took the victory while the Freshmen with, "Where's the Beef?" took second place. The Sophomore's "Scoop the Goop" float came in third place and Honorable Mention was given to the choir.

Even though Key Club members had only one week to complete the Bonfire, they amassed a big one. The Bonfire lit up the sky and added fuel to the spirit of Homecoming.

Excitement filled the air Homecoming night. The team and the fans were fired up and the -Coogs- defeated the Pearland Oilers, 29-7.

Everyone awaited anxiously for half-time and the announcements of the Homecoming Queen. Finally, Tracy Johnson was crowned queen.

Homecoming was finalized by the first Homecoming Dance in several years. The dance was held at the College of the Mainland and given by the Anchor Club.

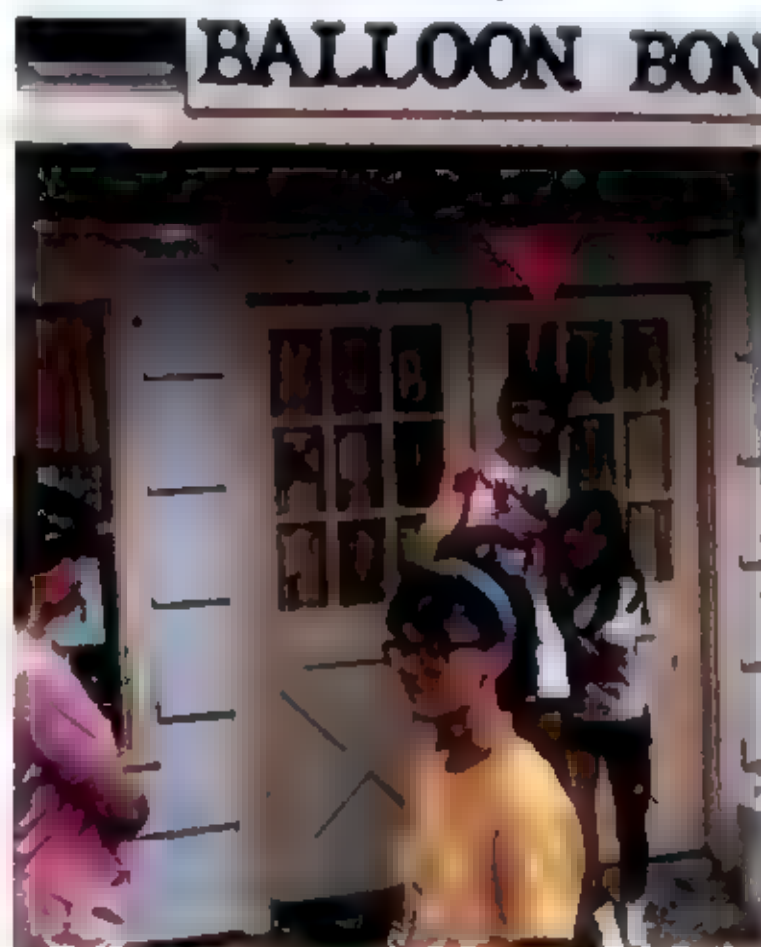

All of these events added to the excitement and memories of the 1984 LaMarque High Homecoming.

Gwen Fontenot seems to be really enthused about the game.

Proud Seniors display their pride on the Senior Float.

Sarah Sunderman, Harold Kelly, Betsy Henderson, and Melissa Luna were just a few students who helped PAINT THE TOWN and spread spirit throughout LAMARQUE.

Something Different:

TAG Sweeps the School

TAG (the assassination game) was an intense although brief fad that swept the campus just before Christmas. Students quickly realized the rules included, no play time during school, but the strategy and stalking began immediately after. Store managers found their shelves empty of plastic dart guns briefly, but the fad ended after Christmas as quickly as it had begun.

Todd Allison corners Mike Aguilar and registers a "kill".

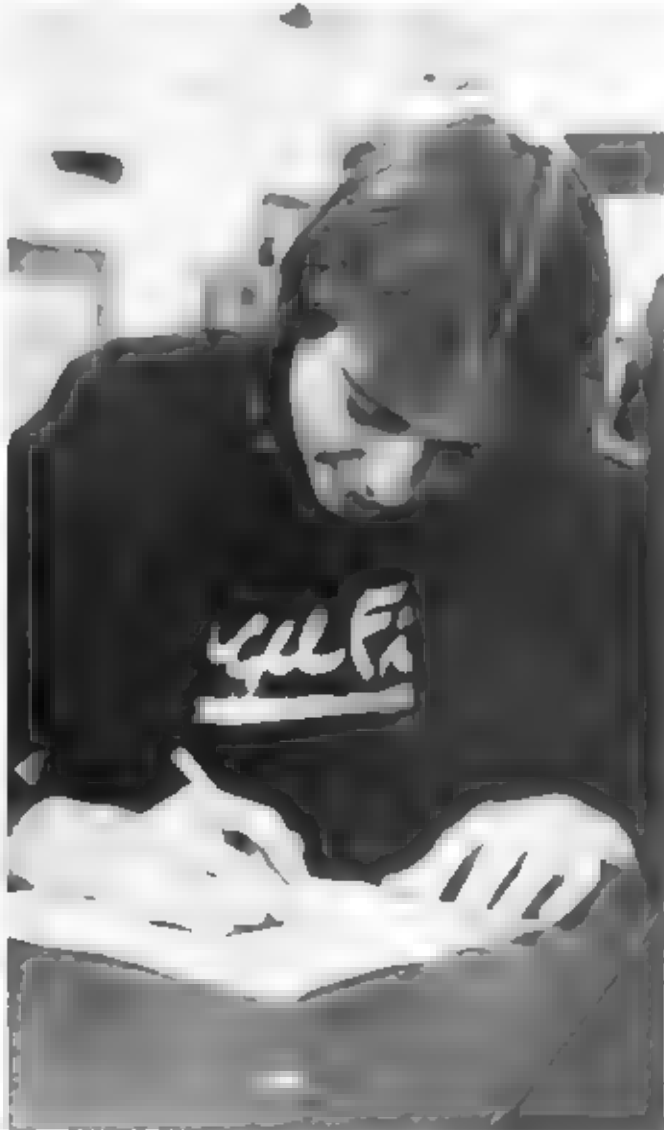

Andy Landry surprisingly "darts" Mike Aguilar from behind.

Everyone wants a computer match

It was a good idea. For 50 cents you could find the ten people in the school most compatible to you. The Computer Club sponsored the Match-up. Students eagerly signed up. The one problem was that instead of receiving the results by Valentine's Day as promised, the computer experts did not get the lists back until May. Student reactions to "their" lists varied from excitement to surprise to utter disbelief. Still, the computer match-up provided an interesting sidelight to the year.

David Pattillo was one of those overseeing the Computer Match-up.

The flag corps struts their stuff in the pep rally.

Sophomores outshone everyone in pep rallies as they displayed their pride and spirit towards the school.

Spirit shown throughout the school

Checks and stripes - bright colors like yellow, green, purple and orange highlighted Clash Day, one of the most popular spirit days celebrated all season.

Homecoming week saw the entire week devoted to such days as Ribbon Day, Balloon Day, Hat Day, Shade Day, culminating in one big day, Friday.

Spirit Days boosted spirit for both the Coogs and the students.

The circus was in town as LaMarque celebrated Clash-day. Derrick Parnell, Kevin McGaskey, Chris Moore, Riley Bell, and P.C. Bryant participated in Spirit Day for Homecoming

LM throws victory up in the air

At 7:00 pm January 24 on a cold and dreary night the third annual LM/TC journalism pizza contest was held. Monty Bros was packed from floor to ceiling. As the teams entered the arena, the chanting started, the team made ready for competition and . . . well, thats not exactly how the contest started or ended. Yeah, a pizza eating contest, not a football or basketball game, a night that almost turned a nice pleasant pizza parlor into a raging battle ground.

The LM team consisted of John "Tip" Felter, Jim Schillaci, Gerald "Jack the ripper," Landry, Alec "Stump" Mendez, and Kelly Fleenor. Keith Richard led the cheers as he stood behind all five team members.

The pizza contest started and LM jumped out to a 3 or 4 pizza slice lead. What seemed like an hour, but was only 30 minutes, passed.

Unfortunately, Landry got sick. Rules of the contest said that all of a pizza be eaten. As the LaMarque team pondered their strategy, TC demanded that LM eat the offending pizza. LM team members objected - strenuously - and tension hung heavily in the air.

The potential war was diffused when the TC team was announced as winners and students from both schools pitched in to clear up the mess.

"I'll never eat pizza again . . ." at least not for awhile. Alec, Jim, Kelly, and Tip struggle to force down more pizza in the pizza contest.

“Go - Girilla”?

Powder Puff - just for the fun of it

“Go-gorilla-gol” - not a flattering cheer for young ladies maybe, but perhaps appropriate for the first annual Inter-school Powder Puff game sponsored by the Journalism Department.

The two teams consisted of freshmen/juniors and sophomores/seniors. The boy cheerleaders in skirts and the Man'Selles in their drill team costumes performed hilariously during half-time and the game. In addition to guys in girls' costumes, Glen Wilson was crowned the Powder Puff King.

MOMS hold annual talent show

Breakdancing was evident in the 3rd annual Talent Show held by M.O.M.S. (mothers of the Mam'Selles) as several groups from this area performed.

Playing to a packed house the show also featured two rock bands, singing acts and a lip-sync act.

Proceeds were used to fund the activities for the Mam'Selles.

HB 72 limits assemblies

HB 72 limited the number of assemblies we could have. In the year of 85 we had three assemblies. These were the yearbook slide show, and the Camfel show of "Desperados." The final closing assembly of slides depicting the events of school year was held for the Seniors only.

Seniors hold "their" prom

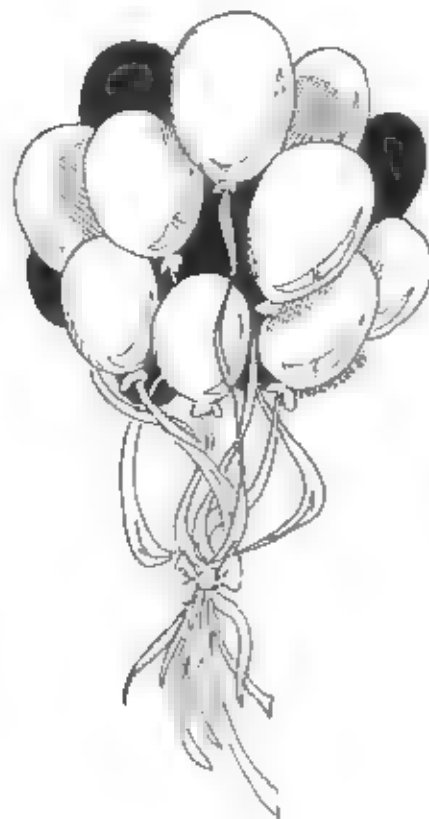

Monica Gary and Norman Jones were elected King and Queen for 85 Prom

The Seniors of '85 broke tradition and had a true "Senior Prom" this year as only Seniors and their dates were eligible to go. For some Seniors the relatively small group made the Prom a little less appealing.

Held at the Hobby Hilton the Prom featured balloons, top hats and confetti decorations to add to the color.

Top hats and bright colored dresses added a special note to the Prom - "Tonight Ready for the World."

Elizabeth Garza and Jeff Duckworth take a break from all the exciting action.

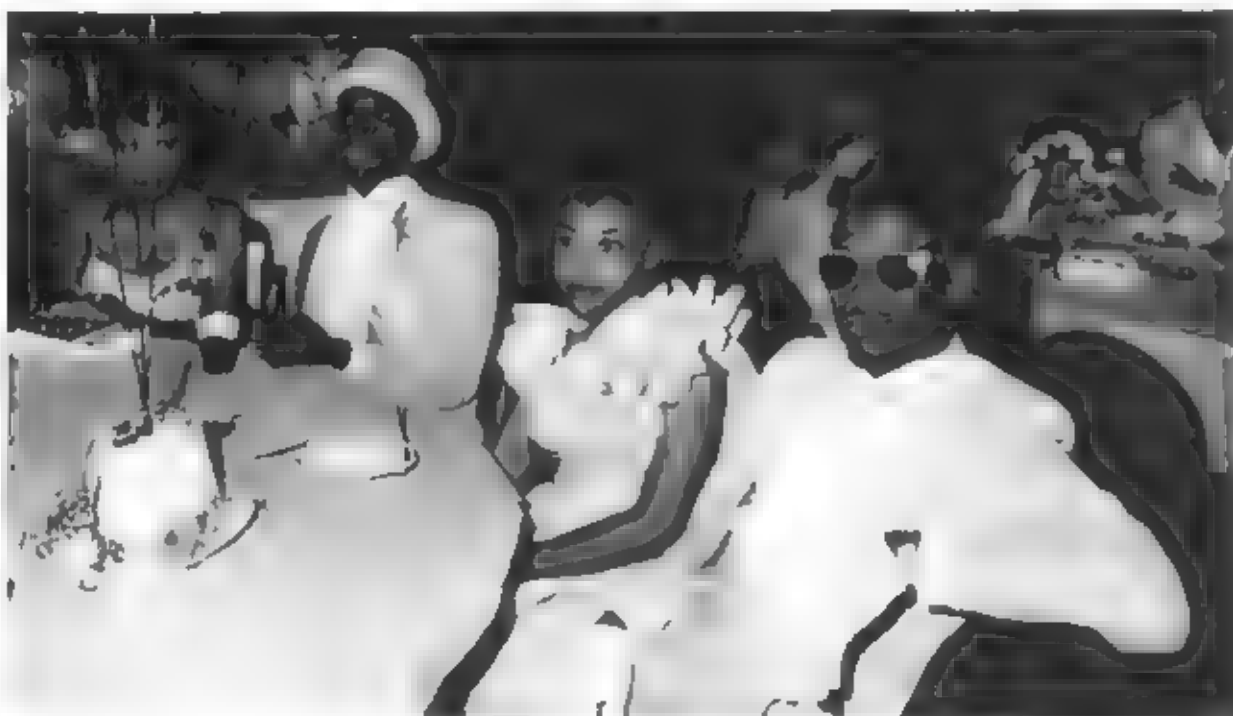

Finalists were Tracy Johnson, and her date Kevin Baptist, Ed Lovell, and his date Stephanie Armstrong, Paula Dube, and her date Bob Lambert, and Andy Landry, with his date Elise Richards

ORGANIZATIONS

Clubs both past and present, what do they really achieve? The answer to this question is quite obvious, each club is there to represent a small group of various different people throughout the school. Throughout the 15 years of LaMarque's history many clubs have come and gone, such as the Inter-Club Council, V.O.E., and even a Paramedic Club.

This year many clubs got into the swing of things. The Anchor Club started the year off with the 1984-85 Homecoming Dance. Also participating in the Homecoming activities were most of the other organizations. These clubs also sponsored dances, banquets, fundraisers, and even a Powder Puff Football game.

Besides these various activities, clubs provided a much needed outlet for students since many of the regular privileges were taken away because of House Bill 72. Such Organizations provided outside activities that were both fun and rewarding.

Clubs play

The Key Club members, Billy Lacompte, and Keith Richard try to build up the wood for the bonfire.

Extra-curricular activities got a bad name in Texas schools during the '84-'85 school years.

Most legislators laid the blame on students' failures to achieve academically on their participation in sports and other extra-curricular activities.

Many of them failed to see how much real good could come for the students who were active in school clubs and organizations.

At LaMarque club activities began with the beginning of the school year as officers and new members began planning just what they would accomplish. For most clubs the first big test was Homecoming. Should floats be entered? If they were, what kind of float would it be? How would it be constructed? What kinds of materials would be needed? How would the float be paid for? Where would it be built? Who was willing to work on it?

Traditionally the answers to all these questions had to come from the students themselves because club sponsors have always adopted a "hands off" attitude about Homecoming. In other words, the sponsors would be there to help if needed but the job and the float would belong to the students.

So what did this mean? Simply that students had to take the initiative, to show leadership, organization and execution of plans if their project was to come off. Some clubs succeeded very well. Other decided that simpler plans were easier and elected to just have a truck or car representative.

Others took other roles in planning Homecoming, like the Key Club whose members and supporters had one week to gather wood from around town, stack it and build the bonfire for burning. The Student Association members found themselves, planning the entire Homecoming activities - Parade, bonfire, halftime festivities and dance.

But Homecoming wasn't the only activity for the year. Every club found it necessary at some point to become involved in some kind of fundraising activity. Again, what the money would be used for, how much should be raised, and how the activity would be conducted was a concern for the members. FHA

major role in school and Childcare groups had parties for nursing homes and children's homes' residents. Key Club sent money to African famine relief.

Many extra-curricular activities are geared toward education but take learning a step further than the classroom. The Speech team, for instance, went beyond just learning how to speak in front of an audience to learning how to "move" an audience.

Their efforts were enough to win them a number of trophies throughout the year as well as a Sweepstakes Award from Prairie View.

Band, choir, and drill team members learned what it was like to plan and execute a performance in front of live audiences, not just one teacher.

Drama students not only learned to perform but got so involved in their One-act Play entry that they "became" the Jews they portrayed and learned much of the Jewish history and traditions. Journalism students learned more than just how to report the news. They also learned how to edit it, write it, record it, and present it. They learned too, how to live with the praise and the criticism that comes with publication.

Job cooperative students in ECA, OEA, and ICT took the skills they learned in class and applied them directly to the demands of a job. The on-the-job training was also true of the VICA organizations in computer repair, auto mechanics, welding, and cosmetology.

Some clubs directed activities toward helping others. SAEC members found themselves responsible for planning any activities that would affect all the student body. NHS members set up a tutoring system for other students.

Obviously some organizations weren't as successful as others in carrying out their plans for the year. But even if the organization wasn't successful, members still learned a lesson that without planning and willing helpers, their projects just wouldn't come off. They were the only ones who could make it work. If there were foul-ups, club leaders and members felt the sting of public criticism.

So in spite of the belief held by some Texas legislators that extra-curricular activities were something undesirable, the clubs and organizations were a terrific outlet for students ideas.

Sometimes, learning in the classroom just isn't enough.

Student Association was Vice-President of the district Student Council this year, and Betsy Henderson held the office. SA won the Outstanding Student Council Award and the Outstanding Safety Award. Leri-sa Edwards and Toni Parker worked on the safety committee. Tonya Matthews and Patricia Stewart represented SA as GSL District President.

SA had other complications to deal with as well as good points. Angela Jackson, president for the months of August through February, resigned. Betsy Henderson took over the position and completed the year's activities.

Interclub Council composed of the President of the clubs, and Student Council made of interested students within the student body, aided SAEC in many projects.

Student Council was the link between the Student Association and the Student Body. They assisted the Student Association with projects such as, CPO, VPO, Scrapbook, and Collecting Food for the Needy at Christmas, and Thanksgiving. Student Council members also went to district convention with Student Association this year.

Interclub Council members are Audria Iles, George Comits, Tracy Johnson, Paul Comits, David Pattillo, Marilyn Foreman, and Trena Williams.

Interclub Council sponsored Student Hall of Fame. Six students were selected each month by the teachers. Their pictures were placed in the commons along with the teacher's recommendation essay. Interclub also helped with the Christmas can drive, and they helped to regulate the fundraisers throughout the year.

Dancers 'high kick' the year away

The Drill Team Season began way before school started. They attended camp at Corpus Christi University. They spent 1 week putting out 8 hours of hard work. At the end of the week they received the spirit stick which represented their spirit, leadership and attitude. They also won a trophy for a routine they performed. Two of the officers, Tracey Johnson and Trena Williams, also won individual success. They were both selected from 200 other girls to perform at the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston on New Year's Day. Trena was also selected as outstanding dancer which she received a medal. After returning home they thrilled the crowd at the Buttermilk Junction Parade with a hand routine the officers learned from camp. As football season approached there were many days of after school practicing for the girls. Their halftime routines earned them several standing ovations. When football season was over, it was time for the Mam'Selles to compete in competitions. They went to a solo and ensemble competition in Pearland where Trena received a 1st place rating. The rest of the team received numerous second and third ratings. In another competition in Houston the group received a 1st place rating for their routine "Strut". As the competitive season ended Mam'Selles prepared for officer and new line members tryouts. Director of all the activities for the team was Mrs. Derr.

Anchor Club: Dedicated and Hard Working

What does it take to be a "super club"? Well at LMHS all of our clubs are "super clubs", however one does stand out in the way it serves both its school and its community. The Anchor Club which is sponsored by Carolyn Dyer and Gayle Carter has earned many achievements. Starting the year off at Buttermilk Junction and then by sponsoring the Victory Homecoming Dance, the club was hard at work.

Not only does the club provide entertainment for the school it also provided special services for them, such as "clean the school" project and its teacher secret pals. Secret pals help to recognize the hard work of teachers and faculty.

However the major concern of the Anchor Club is its community projects for which they received first place at the State Convention which was held in Beaumont, Texas.

They sponsored such things as a can and blood drive, and provided food for the SPCA . . .

On one special occasion the club visited the Yeager Home for unwanted or mistreated children. There a Valentine party was given and new "special friendships" were created among both the members and the children. As a major project every year a Lifeline unit is bought for an elderly person. This machine aids a person with just a push of a button.

These activities and the high requirements the girls must have for membership, are the reasons the club is highly respected.

Valerie Pate presents a check for $400 to the Pilot Club in order to purchase a Lifeline unit in the name of the LMHS Anchor Club.

Monica Mollini, Aurdria Iles, Dana Fesperman, Elizabeth Garza, Tonya Cortney, Susan Sireno, Kate Little, Karrie Shows, Valerie Pate, Gina Hengst, Robin Phelps, Kelly Spillar, Najet Ayachi, Mrs. Dyer, Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. Pate, Staci Woodward and Rozzi Donati attended the 1985 Anchor Club convention in Beaumont, Texas where they accepted many awards.

Anchor Club Aids Community and School

"This is from your Secret Pal!" is a common phrase heard by teachers. Throughout the year Anchor Club members try to add a little excitement to the school days of teachers and administration.

One of the many Anchor Club projects during the course of this year was the trip to the Yeager Home. Kim Wright, Paula Dube, Monica Gary and Aurdria Iles pass out the Valentine goodies.

Karen Spillar, Kim Lindley, Laura Ash and Kelly Spillar work hard as they train for their future occupation. Now they're just cleaning off the trophies for an Anchor Club service project for LMHS.

Gathering enough wood, trees, and other things to build the highest bonfire ever was the work of the Key Club. The building as well as the burning of the bonfire added special feelings and memories to the Homecoming event.

Another activity held this year was the rummage sale. Members collected various items to sell. All of the proceeds helped the hungry in Ethiopia. The members also traveled to Fort Worth to attend the annual Key Club convention.

Members put the finishing touches on the pile.

The key turned - the engine revved - they were on their way. In their first exciting event of the year, the Thespian troupe 1590 packed themselves into a van and journeyed to San Antonio to the International Thespian Conference. They attended lectures and exhibitions, the most helpful of which was one on the Eric Morris method of acting. It became the troupe's predominant acting style.

Students who gained enough points during the year working on shows were allowed to proceed through the "horrors" of Thespian Initiation Week. These unfortunates were instructed to do favors for Thespians, including carrying books and serenading the commons at lunch.

The Initiation of the Thespians' crazy costumes surprised the student body as John Borsellino shows.

Thespian officers included Marilyn Foreman - President, Jennifer Brouillard - Vice-President, and Mary Arensman - Secretary.

The cast of Pygmalion

Being Jews . . .

"Why are you wearing a Jewish star?" "Why do you have that thing on your head?" "Why aren't you wearing make-up?" The answer was easy - UIL one-act play competition.

The drama troupe presented "I Never Saw Another Butterfly" for contest. The show was the life story of Raja Englanderova, a young Jewish girl and her suffering in a Nazi concentration camp.

It was different from any other kind of previous show. To prepare for the intense emotions that the actors had to portray, they "became" Jews. The boys had their heads shaved and wore Yamakas. The girls wore no make-up and pulled their hair back in babushkas. All the cast went on diets and cast and crew wore the yellow star of David daily. The stares, pointed questions and ridicule they received helped them understand the results of true prejudice.

All who saw the show were definitely moved and few left without a tear in their eye.

The show didn't win Zone A competition - the troupe took alternate. However, the show taught these students about a horrible past, and motivated them to keep it from happening in the future.

Speech Team, a closer look!

The 1984-85 Speech Team was quite different this year. They attended six tournaments, and won a sweepstakes trophy at Prairie View tournament. They also brought home eight awards. The team for the first time in a long time had three debate teams which consisted of Betsy Henderson and Lloyd Mandenburg, Nathan Randle and Genia Hughes, and Genoise Thomas and Linda Lynch.

The team's membership was increased. Every tournament was a delight because members were always in semi-finals and finals. The Speech Team sold gummy bears, and it was a tremendous success. With the profit the outstanding members were awarded letters.

"Adopt a grandmother" was the main project of the FHA this year. They adopted Elizabeth Smith from Seabreeze Nursing Home. The members sent Mrs. Smith presents on each holiday. For Thanksgiving they gave her a fruit basket. They surprised her at Christmas with a plant, and of course no one could forget Easter. The members bought her a bed jacket.

FHA also sponsored club member day. On this day all members wore their T-shirts and each member passed out suckers to the teachers. For Christmas FHA members gave each teacher a miniature pound cake.

FHA ended their year with a banquet at Benitos. The outstanding members and officers were awarded with plaques.

LM wins Superior Band rating in Louisiana Contest

Paula Dube: Drum Major

Rachelle Green demonstrates the precision and accuracy of the flag corps.

A standing ovation from the hometown crowd at the end of their last halftime performance highlighted the band's hard work during football season. That proved to be a real boost for the members who were preparing for their Golden Tornado Band Festival the next day. The members scored a superior rating at that contest in Sulphur, Louisiana. The drum majors did also.

Band work actually began in August before school started with long, hot summer practices. Practices extended during football season after school and in the stadium.

At the district UIL marching contest members score an EXCELLENT rating while Solo and Ensemble contest winners numbered 36.

Band members also sparked the pep rallies with such favorites as "Long Train" and "Georgia".

As the year progressed members prepared for their annual Christmas concert held in conjunction with the choir. Several members were also invited to play for the Ashton-Villa Christmas presentations.

Several members also received recognition for their individual talents. Paula Dube, drum major, received national honors as a member of the John Phillip Sousa band. She gained a trip to Washington D.C. for this honor. She and Joey Lockwood also played with a group of students under the auspices of the Houston Symphony. The two, along with Monica Mallini were also named to "Who's Who in High School Bands".

Journalism Staff members came up with a new name for the paper and the school publication became The Pride. Sporting a new look The Pride was widely accepted by the students and earned a UIL Award of Achievement.

Besides the newspaper, staff members also produced a 304 page yearbook celebrating the school and its accomplishments the past 15 years.

Together the groups also sponsored the Powder Puff football game for the Student body, conducted a raffle and challenged the Texas City Journalists to a pizza contest.

PEOPLE

In the past years many faces may have changed and many may have stayed the same. However with each new year there brings a different set of students and a different set of ideas. Each class brings with it, its own individual personality and then leaves its own mark as it prepares to graduate.

This year has been a very historical one for LMHS. With its new additions to the faculty and student body, activities such as the first "Senior" Prom and the first male in 9 years to try out for cheerleader.

As the new freshmen entered the high school so did the graduating class of 1985. And as each one of the four classes went through the year, they began to leave their own mark as well as their own memories to LMHS.

Seniors of '85 celebrate

their final year!

Justus Sunderman shows his true personality as he plays catch with child care children.

It may have taken him a long time to get where he's at, but Justus has proved that all it takes is courage. Justus served as staff writer for The Pride newspaper.

Justus Sunderman:

A study in Courage

"I admire him for his constant drive to prove that he has overcome his handicap. He is just as dependable as anyone I know, and I am proud to graduate with him." Jim Schillaci not only speaks for himself, but for the entire class of 1985 who hold a great respect for Justus Sunderman.

Justus came to LMHS as a junior in the fall of 1981, just before Thanksgiving as he was coming home from a party the driver of the car in which he was riding swerved to miss an animal causing the car to flip. Both boys had been drinking and the serious accident completely changed his outlook of the "fun" of teenage drinking.

Justus' original graduation date was May 1983. Due to the accident, however he was comatose for several months, and missed the school year. Before the tragic wreck, Justus was a member of the yearbook staff; he played JV football, and most importantly he was at the top of his class academically.

It was the following year before he was able to complete his junior year. Since he was 18 at the end of the year, he did have some thoughts about quitting school. However he decided to return because, "I wasn't in a position to make a wise judgement."

Justus, with help from his family, has progressed remarkably, going from a wheelchair to walking on his own.

Justus said that the toughest part of his ordeal was "having to retrace his steps." And at graduation he was, he said, "more relieved than anyone else."

To sum up, Mr. Goolsby, senior English teacher, commented, "If we who are not as handicapped as Justus worked as hard as he does, can you imagine what a great world it would be?"

Top students of 1985:

Valedictorian, Paula Dube and Salutatorian, Neal Waer open Commencement exercises.

Honor Graduates were Erika Eriksson, Andy Landry, Jim Schillaci, Karri Curtis, Al Romeo, Paula Dube, Sonya Burns, Traci Parke, Lerisa Edwards, Kim Wright, Doug Cummings, Alonzo Crittendon, David Pattillo, Ed Hennigan, Daniel Shea, Angela Balderas, Neil Wae and George Comits.

'Pep rallies'

The Seniors set the mood for the Cougar pep rallies by taking control of the first two. Yells, screams, pom-pons, noise-makers, and balloons were the key elements of winning. Seniority, as a whole, is what they were all looking forward to.

Seniors take charge of Prom

Better late than never! Unfortunately, the 1985 Senior Class was faced with the problem of raising money for their Prom. It was a quick and hard task for many. Car Washes, Fiesta Dinners, M&M's Rummage Sales, and Mother's Day gifts were all a part of the fundraising. This of course, happened because the Juniors were excluded from this year's Prom. All and all, everything was accomplished and The Senior Prom was held.

Seniors celebrate in toga style!

The Senior Officers for the 1985 Senior Class were: Kim Wright, Secretary; Angela Stanfield, Vice President; Paula Dube, President; Trena Williams, Parliamentarian; and Erika Enksson, Treasurer.

There were many Seniors that stood out above others throughout the year. By the time you're a Senior, you have your own ideas of going through everyday high school life. You have to make school something to enjoy and look forward to. And of course, Seniors know how to do it.

Kenneth Hogan and Tracey Johnson were named Overall Favorites.

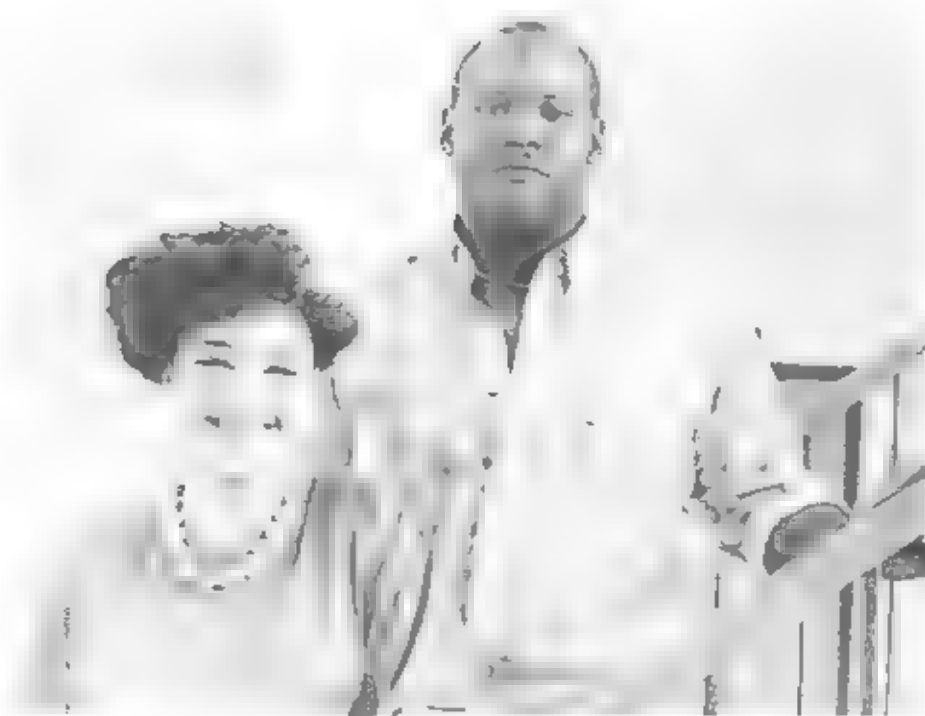

The Most Spirited Seniors were Kenneth Hogan and Erika Eriksson.

Alonzo Crittendon and Paula Dube were Most Likely to Succeed.

Tracey Johnson and Glen Wilson were named Most Charming Seniors.

The Best Dressed Seniors were Amanda Andres and Alonzo Crittendon.

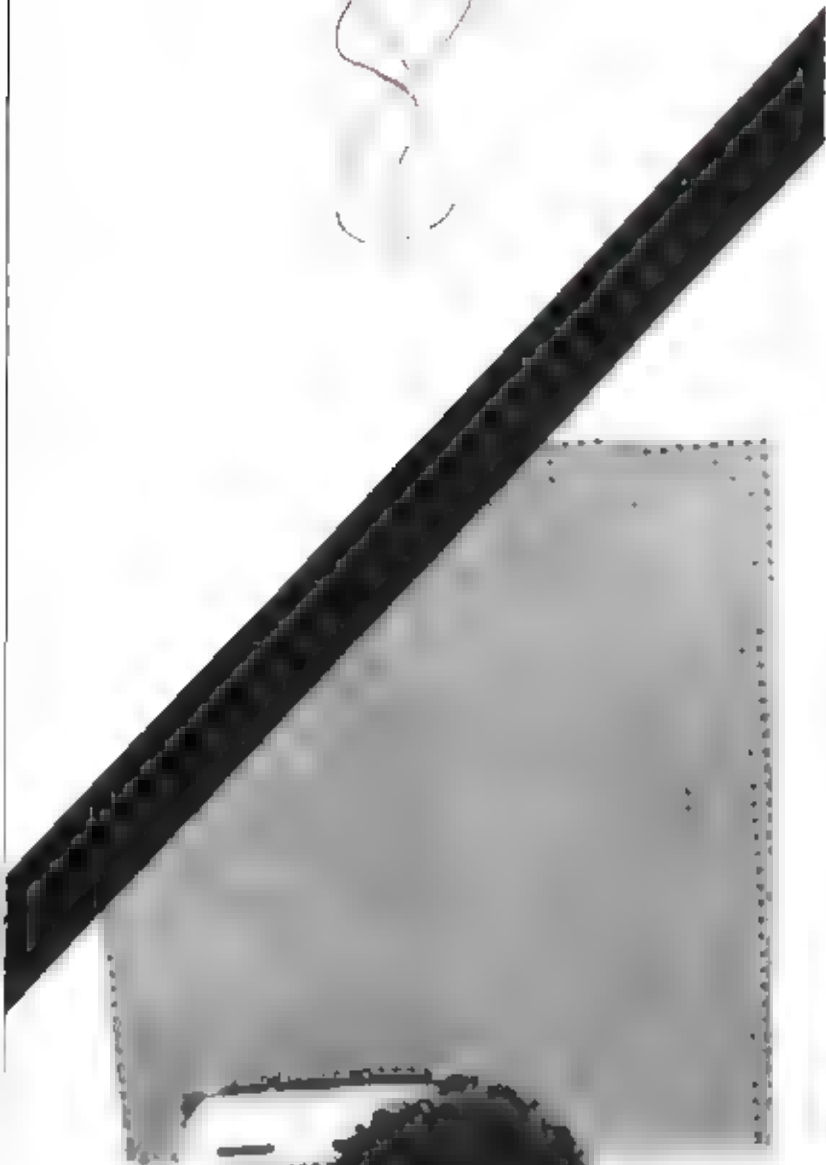

The Most Witty Seniors were Kenneth Hogan and Andra Mitrovich.

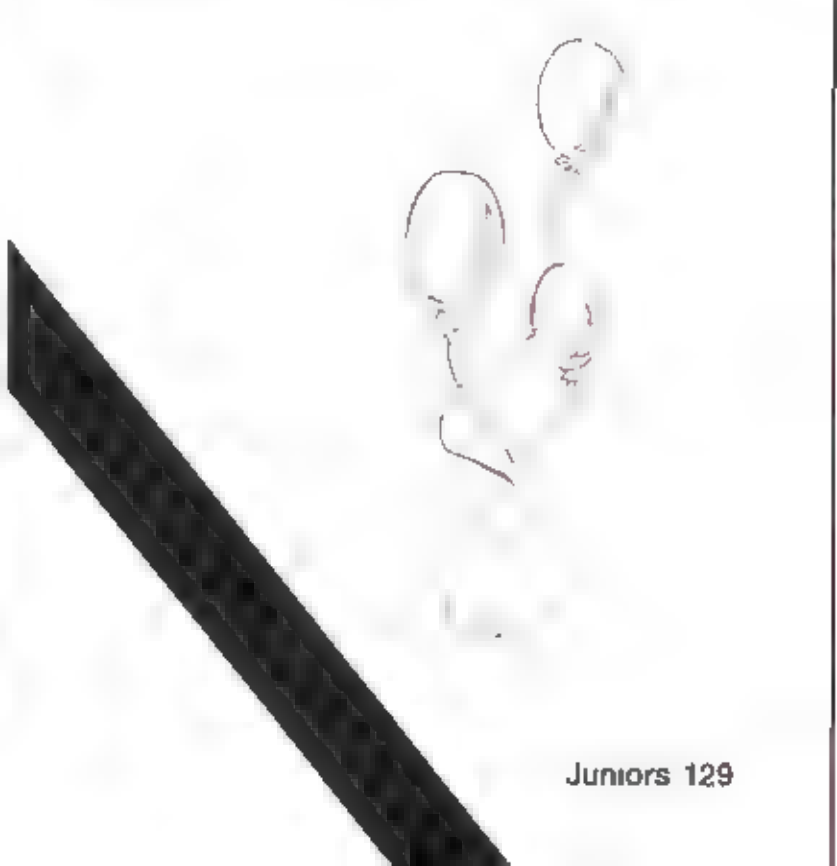

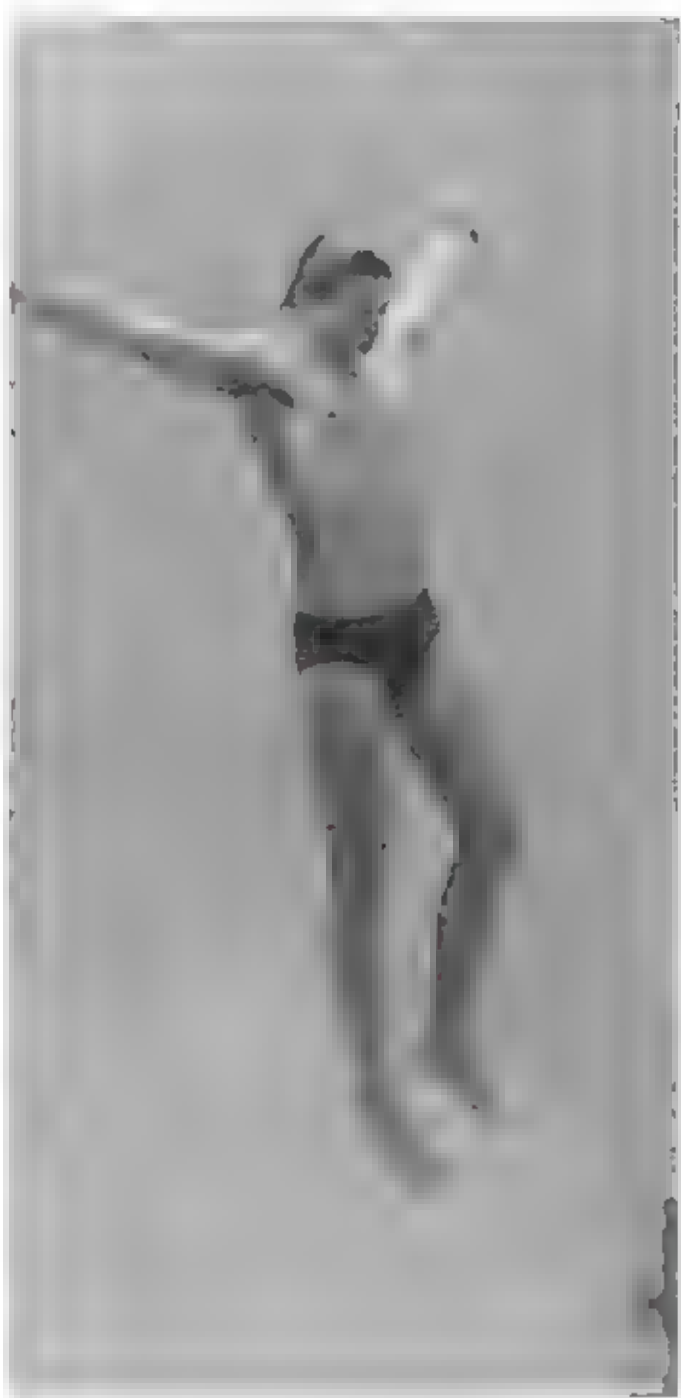

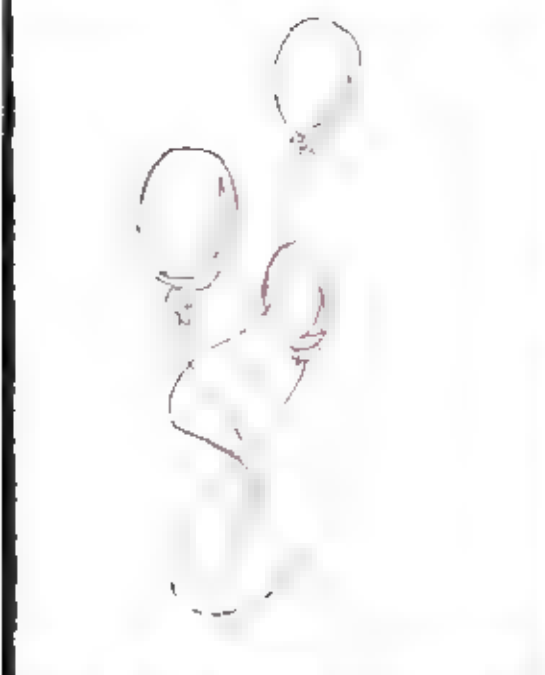

Norman Jones and Toni Parker were the Friendliest of the Seniors.

Friendship . . .

Is friendship a seven letter word? A person makes a lot of friends while in high school. Many friends come and many friends go, but everybody makes a few friends that will always be true. Many people have found themselves year after year in the same class with the same people. After being in class with someone for that long, everybody tends to become close, closer than they would if they only saw these people once or twice a day. So, is friendship a seven letter word? We think it is and it is spelled - JUNIORS.

Tom Spillar, Laura Ash, Marisa King, Sammy Gonzales, Karl Hammerschmidt, and Shelly Hudson gather around to show their friendship before a pep rally.

David Hern impersonates Barbara Walters for an APAH grade.

David Hern - A very unique and "live" individual. Outgoing and the ultimate example of "liveness," David believes that being different from everyone else is very important. Although he doesn't get down at school as much as he used to, he does "perform" in the privacy of his own home for a few close friends. If these friends are lucky, they even get to witness Hern's dad break dancing with the family cat. But, David says, "I don't get my personality or my individualism from my dad. It has taken me many years to form the unique and ultimate personality that I have." Even though he is teased by fellow students, that doesn't stop him from being himself. When asked about how he felt when the teasing occurred, David commented, "It used to bother me, but now I just let it go in one ear and out the other. I think I'm above that type of immature behavior."

As for future plans David plans for extensive travel before pursuing his careers in medical science and photography. When asked about marriage plans, David kicked back and began to smooth down his hair, "I want a very knowledgeable wife, she has to be intelligent so that she can raise my "little Herns" properly." David is planning for a very large family about 12 in all. So, a bit of advice, watch out world, here comes Hern!!!

She flashed a gigantic smile, took a deep breath, performed a mechanical, jerking cheer and finished with spectacular jumps. This performance and the many others like it earned Amy Agorastas a nomination for All American cheerleader at the summer camp held at Sam Houston. Amy competed against many others for the title and the chance to travel to Hawaii and compete at a higher level. Each nominee performed their perfected cheer in front of 500 screaming cheerleaders and the NCA judges. Although Amy did not actually win the All American title, she came back to inspire and lead the LaMarque cheerleading squad throughout the 84-85 school year.

JUNIORS

The 1984-85 Junior class officers were, Ronald Brooks, president; Jackie Jubert, treasurer; Karen Ward, vice president; and Sammy Gonzales, secretary.

The Junior Class left its mark - although it wasn't a very positive one when the traditional Junior-Senior Prom was abolished in favor of just a Senior Prom. The reason - lack of funds from the Junior class. Lack of effort on the part of the officers and lack of concern of class members brought about the Prom change.

However the change made the Juniors realize they were on their own for next year and with that in mind they conducted at least one fund raising activity.

On the brighter side, the class did manage to enter a float entitled "Super Cougar" in the Homecoming Parade.

Overall Junior class favorites were Scott Arrington and Kamala Kvinta

Spirited sophs “show ‘em”

Sophs

Throughout the school year the Sophomores were a supportive group when it came to backing the Cougars. The Sophomores managed to win the most pep rallies followed by the Seniors, then Freshmen and Juniors. At the pep rallies you saw the Sophomores with some extra little accessories such as balloons and pom-poms attempting to yell as loud as they could, louder than any other class to walk away proudly with the Spirit Stick for that week.

Sophomore cheerleaders Samitha Hess, Connie Brown, Tanya Eriksson and Barbie Parsons were part of the spark plugs of a spirited sophomore class.

in pep rallies

Sophomores added life to the pep rallies with balloons, pom-poms and masks and signs.

Sophs take look into the future.

House Bill 72 may have changed a lot of new rules and requirements but for the class of 1987 it dealt them a do or die hand.

The Exit test will come into affect in 1987, thus making this years sophomores its guinea pig. They will receive two chances their Junior year to pass it and two more chances their Senior year. Though there are mixed emotions about this new testing procedure, the state feels that it will improve the quality of the students that graduate.

However the students tend to resent the fact that after they have met the required school credits, they have to take an additional test.

Pencil biting, nail chewing, and intense concentration. Sophomores were informed that they would be the first to have to prepare for competency

THE KANSAS CITY STAR

Sophomores speak out on being required to take Exit test . . .

Charmen Keys - It's not fair.

Ana Waldon - It doesn't matter to me, I mean if you can't read, why graduate?

Brent Miller - It doesn't matter because if you've done all your work you should pass it.

Missy Legate - It scares me, I'll probably fail it.

Tina Johnson - I think it's stupid.

Danny Menchaca - The people in the past didn't have to take it, why did they have to start with us?

Sidney Aldridge - I don't like it at all, they should just let us go through the year and not have to take the test.

Tammy Kainer - I think it's stupid. If you have all your credits, you should be able to graduate.

Mary Dispensa - It's a waste of time.

Kevin Block - I don't like it, I passed the TABS and I don't feel that I should have to take another test.

Latonya Lee - I feel that it isn't fair, it makes it harder to get out of high school.

The classroom . . . this is the place that will hold the key to graduating as the following classes prepare for the Exit exams.

It's a dirty job but someone has to do it. Even the clouds couldn't stop the Sophomore class their car wash.

A little music to start the party . . .

Sophomore Class Officers are Vice Pres. Monica Mallini, Business Mgr. Tanya Eriksson, Secretary Kate Little, President Joey Lockwood, and Treasurer Liz Garza.

Sophomores started the party early as they have gotten an early start on their prom by conducting fund raising activities all year. Through bake sales, car washes, and calendar sales they had raised approximately $1000 by the end of the year.

Named Overall Sophomore Favorites are Monica Jenkins, Tanya Eriksson, Rhonda Robinson, Nikki Hershman, Brian Anders, Robin Armstrong and Joey Lockwood.

Best Dressed are Brian Anders and Rhonda Robinson

Most Charming are Brian Anders and Rhonda Robinson

Friendliest are Monica Jenkins and Brian Anders

Sophs Most Likely to Succeed are Joey Lockwood and Robin Armstrong

Most Spirited Sophs are Tanya Eriksson and Michael Horn

Class competition:

Competition between classes - it begins even before school starts as seniors seek ways to dominate the new freshmen. Along the way class competition builds spirit and class pride, leadership, and a sense of belonging as each class strives to make "our class" the best.

. . . It began in the summer of 1984 when seniors undertook various activities to welcome the newest students, the Class of 1988 . . .

. . . Class competition grew during the pep rallies when the sophomores and seniors took control . . .

. . . It intensified during Homecoming as the classes competed with their floats. Seniors took first, freshmen surprised everyone with their second place win and sophomores took third . . .

. . . Competition picked up again during the Thanksgiving Can Drive and seniors brought in the most canned goods for needy families . . .

. . . Seniors and sophomores teamed up to pick on the juniors and freshmen during the powder puff game. The senior-soph team took a 7-0 victory

. . . Juniors really began to focus in on class pride as they received their 1986 Senior Class rings . . .

. . . And the competition ended, at least for one class May 31, 1985. But a new beginning was also in effect as that very night the newest seniors found ways to "welcome" the class of 1989

Despite the seriousness:

While it was true that students in all four classes found they had to approach school in a more serious vein this year because of the new educational reforms in Texas, students, being what they are, still managed to have fun.

Pep rallies with their swirling colors, loud music and spirited performers gave students a chance to let off steam and were a welcome addition to Fridays. Here the juniors celebrate their victory.

Is it a girl? Is it a boy? And why does it have four arms? Actually Patrick Faour was one of the boys cheerleaders at the Ball pep rally.

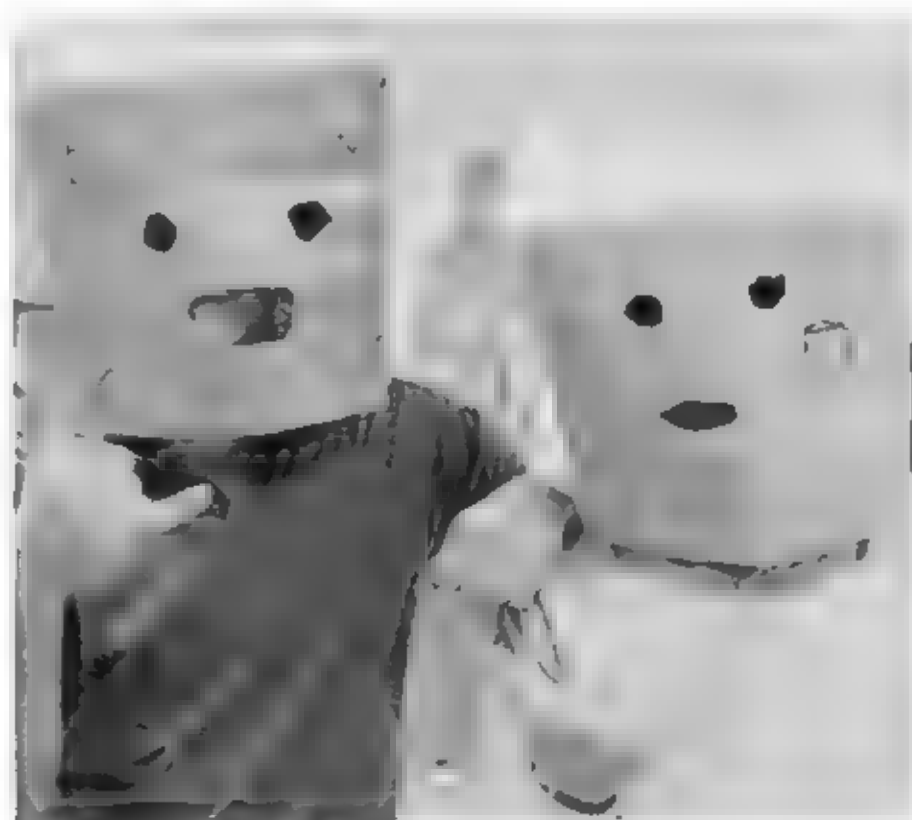

Traditionally, all four classes makes floats for the Homecoming parade. And traditionally, they generally have a good time doing the work that is necessary.

Even art class can be fun - If you get to be one of the 'Viking' models.

Seniors showed their "leadership" at one pep rally by wearing bags over their heads.

Freshmen seek the "good times"

The Freshman Officers for the 1985 Freshman Class were Paul Comits, Vice President, Cheryl Dube, President; Inga Adams, Treasurer; Elsa Garza, Secretary; and Carolyn Malone, Business Manager.

Many freshmen were afraid to come to the high school because they feared that Seniors would be mean to them. Instead, the freshmen found out that the Seniors were rather friendly. Seniors advised them to participate in activities. Now many freshmen are in several groups. So "smooth sailing," fish. One day you will be a Senior.

SPORTS

From 15 years ago until the present, things have certainly come a long way. In the past LMHS has won titles in football, track, baseball, swimming, golf, and many other sports. And as well as seeing titles LaMarque has also seen such head coaches as Tom Williams, Bill Bundy and Coach Hugh Massey. But as the years tend to go on one thing remains the same; and that is the Pride that tends to linger on through the years.

This past year has also proven to be very successful to the Coogs. With the spotlight on the Varsity Cougar Basketball team, better known as the 24-5A Bi-district Champs; the hard work and dedication of these young men proves that it all pays off in the end. As the year progressed each sport represented LMHS to its fullest.

Lovell leads 5-5 season

"I felt comfortable with Ed's strong arm" Coach Hugh Massey stated, in referring to his starting quarterback for the 1984 season. "He also has quick feet and makes an excellent leader."

Massey coached a team with many stand outs, as a number of players topped the district in individual stats. Despite their performances, however it seemed that the Coogs still lacked the experience needed to make the new "Run and Shoot" offense successful as the team posted an even 5-5 season record.

The strong points of the year were the wins over Baytown Lee, and Willow Ridge in predistrict play and against Pearland, Texas City, and Clear Creek in district competition. Coach Massey felt that the strongest game of the year for the defense was against Pearland and for the offensive unit the strongest games were over Baytown Lee and Clear Creek.

"The best thing about the season was the character and discipline of our team. I feel like we had good senior leadership and developed good working habits." Coach Massey commented.

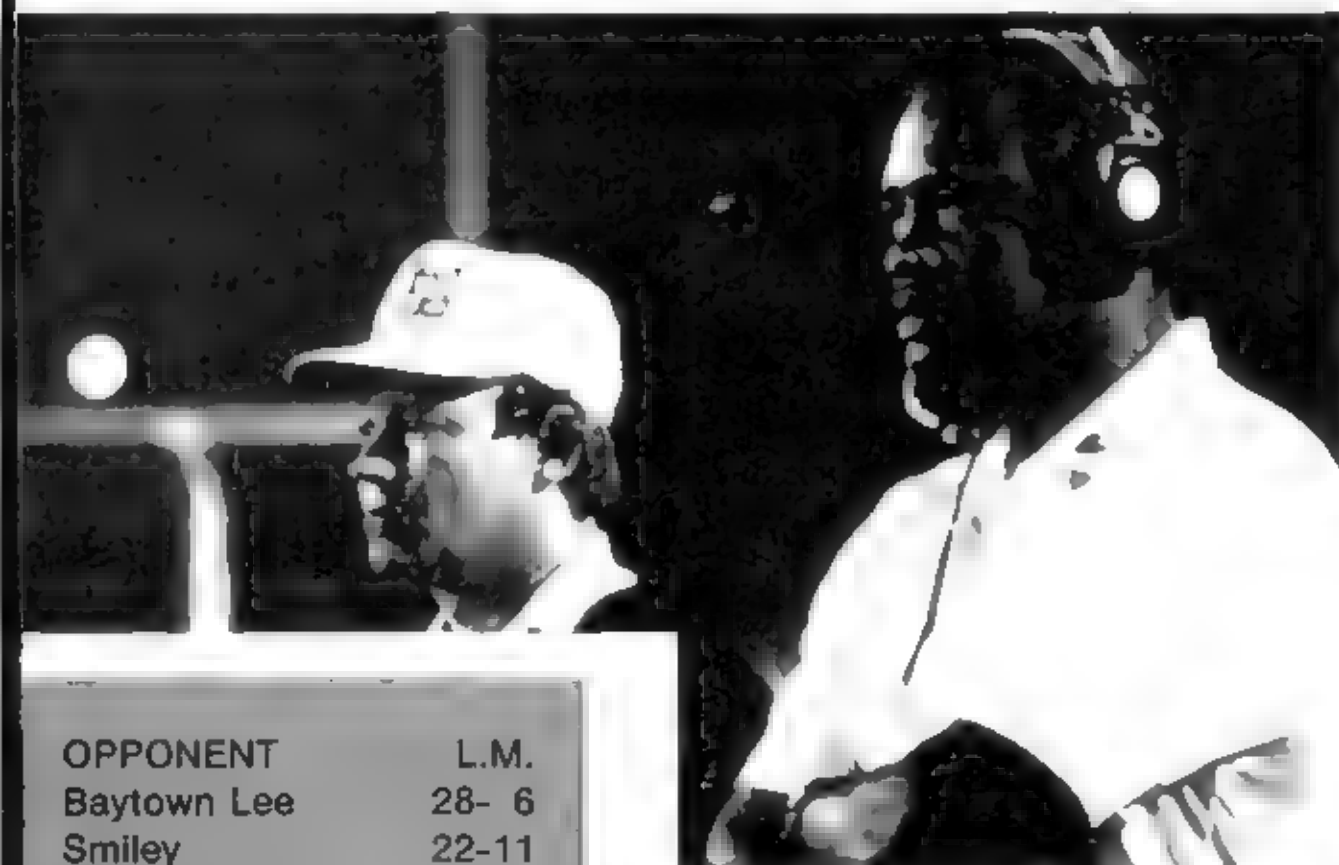

Although the Cougars started out with high high hopes, as the year progressed the hopes of making it to the play-offs decreased, and when the year wound down, the Cougars were left holding a 5-5 season record, posting a staggering 3-4 district record to take a fourth place finish in District 24-A AAAA.

Tape 'em up trainers

"Considering the overall inexperience and youth of the student trainers, I feel they reacted well to the pressures that football presents; more so with the new duties and responsibilities that were put into effect this year." These are the thoughts of Athletic Trainer Ric "Doc" Janacek in regard to the 1984-85 student trainers. Led by head trainer Jaime Compean the trainers provided long hours of necessary service throughout the entire football season. These duties began in spring training and during two-a-day practices the trainers were at the school at 5:30 am and didn't leave the school until 8:30 pm.

Throughout this 15 hour workday, the freshman trainers carried water caddies and the upper class trainers tended to minor medical problems, wrapped ankles, prepared ice packs, and boiled heating pads.

When the season began so did the work after the games on Friday night. The trainers had to clean up the field house, load the van, and unload the van again when they got back to the school. To say the very least, the student trainers were a big help and major assistance to the football team and the coaching staff.

CHAMPS!

Coogs take second in District play

The star of Alvin Franklin might be in the shadows of the past, but Coach Bill Sinches found another star from the heavens for the 1985 season - his name James "The Ripper" Frances. Frances, with the help of three seniors, James Rue, Kenneth Hogan, and Brian Johnson and 6'7" junior Brian Johns playing center, led the cougars to a Bi-District championship posting an 11-3 district record and a 18-10 season record.

It's been eleven long years since the Cougar hoopsters have seen the state playoffs from the playing position. Even with four returning lettermen, the Cougars were predicted to do nothing, but there were surprises yet to come.

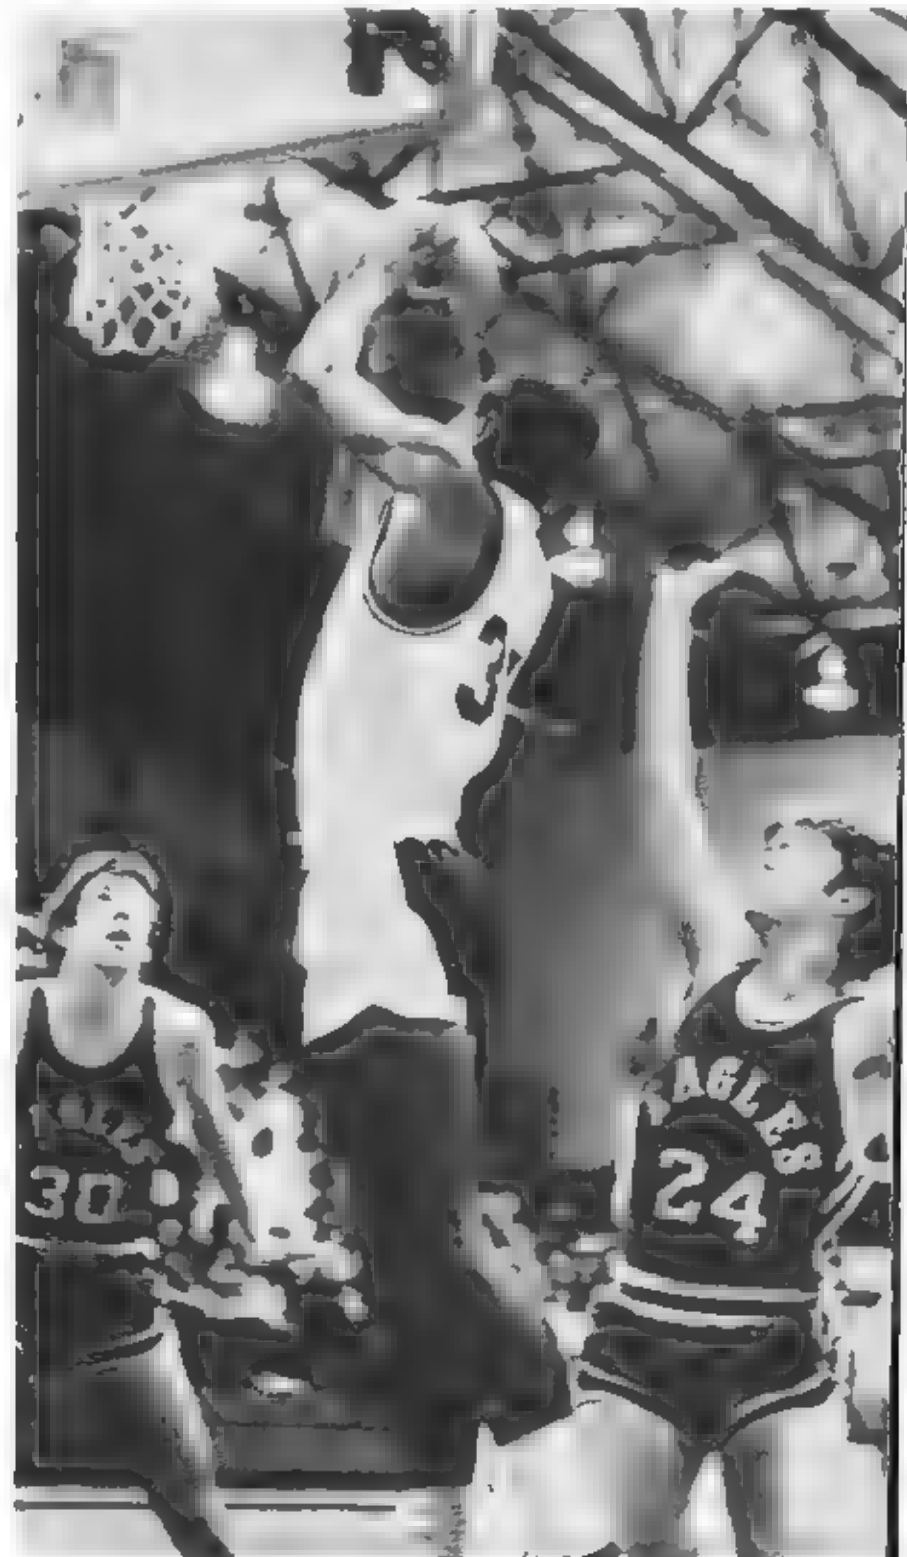

After first place district winner Clear Lake was knocked out of the playoffs by Baytown Sterling, the Coogs bumped off the 23-5A champions Pasadena Eagles. The Coogs started slow and suffered a twelve point deficit in the first four minutes of play. Once the nervous jitters were gone, it was all down hill for the Eagles. The Cougars sharp shooters downed Pasadena 51-46.

Next was Beaumont Charlton-Pollard High School, the 22-5A runner ups.

Girls have disappointing season

It was a disappointing year for the Girl's Varsity Basketball Team. When everyone else was just thinking about getting up in the morning, the Lady Coogs were already on their eighth horse. But all the practicing and hard work didn't pay off.

The Lady Coogs started the season with ten players and finished the season with only six. After the loss of Tammy Pines to injuries, the team still felt they could have a winning season.

The Coogs started preseason off as real competitors and played the way Coach Ward expected. After the loss to Ball High in a tournament, however, the team lost a lot of steam and drive. From then on it was downhill.

The Lady Coogs fell to Creek in the district opener by 25 points. They then faced Ball High with "revenge" on their minds, but suffered a loss to Ball as well as Lake.

Disaster struck in the Dickinson game when two players were injured. From that point on the Lady Coogs would suffer through a long season.

Even after the disappointing 3-9 district record, two Coogs were still awarded with all-district honors. Dionne Ward was named second team all-district, and Sonji Palmer was given honorable mention.

Up for another two . . . Sonji Palmer shoots for two more of her many points. Sonji was awarded honorable mention All-District honors, as was Dionne Ward.

Carpenter leads team to 12-9 record.

"To make it short, I was pleased. From what I had heard, it would be impossible to have a winning baseball team the first year, and we did it." So said Coach Rick Carpenter who piloted the 1985 baseball team to its first winning record (12-9) in five years.

The varsity team was powered by eleven seniors that provided lots of leadership to the team. Coach Carpenter's comment on the winning season was, "I never really thought about it; we had a good team attitude, and a desire to win. We played hard and had lots of senior leaders."

Jeff Janecka led with a .383 batting average while Mike Aguilar and David Shannon finished second and third respectively. Janecka also led the team in doubles and triples. Andy Landry led the team in home runs with four, followed by Shannon, Janecka, Stevens, Felter, Selman, and McCurley. Landry and Richard tied for the team lead in most number of walks. Richard, the catcher, also threw out a large percentage of the runners attempting to steal second base.

The arms on the hill for the Cougars were Stevens, Wetzel, Janecka, Girourd, Walker, and Little. Stevens had the lowest ERA and led in wins posting a 5-3 record, with three saves.

H₂O polo: Girls go to state

With Paige Harper and Joellyn Hofer leading, the girls water polo team went to state competition only to be beaten by 2 points. The team finished in 8th place.

The boys water polo team also participated, but only placed second in regionals. Leading the boys was Mike O'Toole.

Top honors went to Joellyn who gained all-state recognition, being placed on second team, and Paige was named to all-regional, also being placed on second team all-state. Mike was named to the second all-regional team. Coach Herschel Glanz commented that "the teams did as well as they could."

Five qualify for state meet

With the bang of the starting gun echoing, the race was off. The crowds were on their feet yelling at the top of their lungs. The Aqua-Coogs boys and girls swim team was at their best but only to take individual honors.

The team was at the state meet, held at the University of Texas. The Texas High School Invitational featured only qualified individuals.

Before Bill Maner, who swam the 50 and 100 yard freestyle, and Paige Harper, Nicki Smith, Patti Traweek, and Joellyn Hofer, who swam the medley relay, had qualified for state, they had to qualify in regional competition.

Bill Maner placed 22nd out of 50 others and the girls medley relay placed 11th out of 20 teams.

"This year the team was more competitive than the previous teams," commented swim coach Herschel Glanz.

Carpenter takes silver at state;

Coogs win third in district

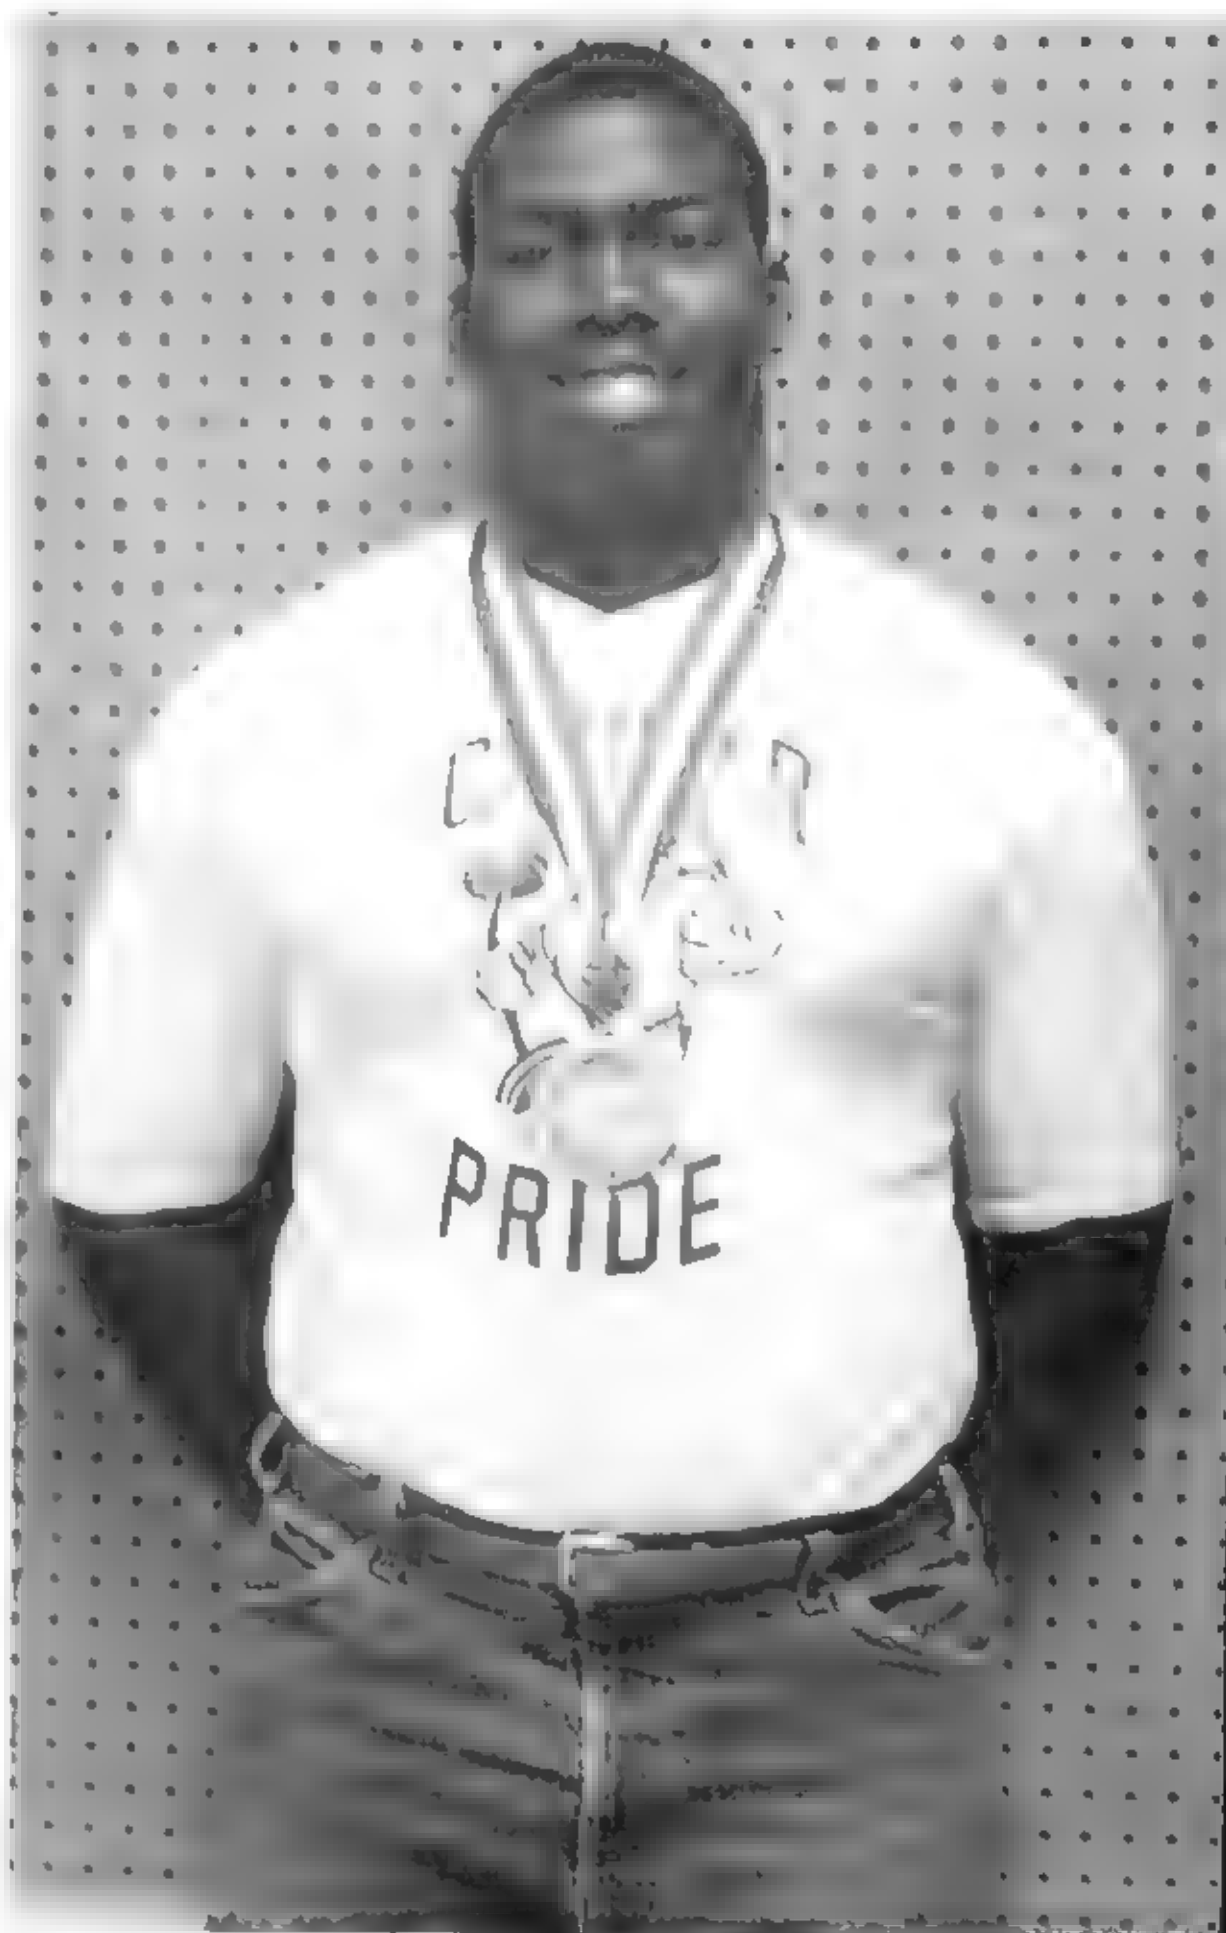

"Coach Carr really gave us the desire to run, he wasn't just our coach, he was part of the team," commented Curtis Whitaker, junior track team member.

It was Coach Leon Carr that took the boys track team to district competition, to come back with a third place finish. Senior track team member Vincent Carpenter, however, advanced to regional competition in the shot-put, with a throw of 61'-6". With this throw, Vincent qualified to go to state competition in Austin. At state, Vincent threw 61'-10 3/4", which brought him the silver medal.

"People think that throwing the shot-put is really easy, but they're wrong, it takes hard work in practice, determination, and confidence in your ability," commented Vince.

Before district competition the Coogs won several meets including the TC Relays and their own Cougar Relays. In fact the team was favored to win the district competition. A fleet Creek relay team, however, edged them out and the Coogs had to settle for a disappointing third, despite several impressive wins in the contest.

In district competition, top honors went to Dwayne Devers, who took second in the discus; Archie Mullins, who took second in the long jump; Joe Barb, who took second in the 800 meter relay; Curtis Whitaker, who took first in the 110 and 300 meter high hurdles; and the 400 meter relay team, who took first. The relay team consisted of Ronnie Johnson, Milton Frank, Kirk Collins, and Archie Mullins.

New coach works to rebuild C.C. team

"Since we were such a small squad, we weren't really able to compete with the other teams in the district," said cross country team coach, John Walker. He worked with both teams, not only coaching, but also running with them, encouraging them to run harder and to do better.

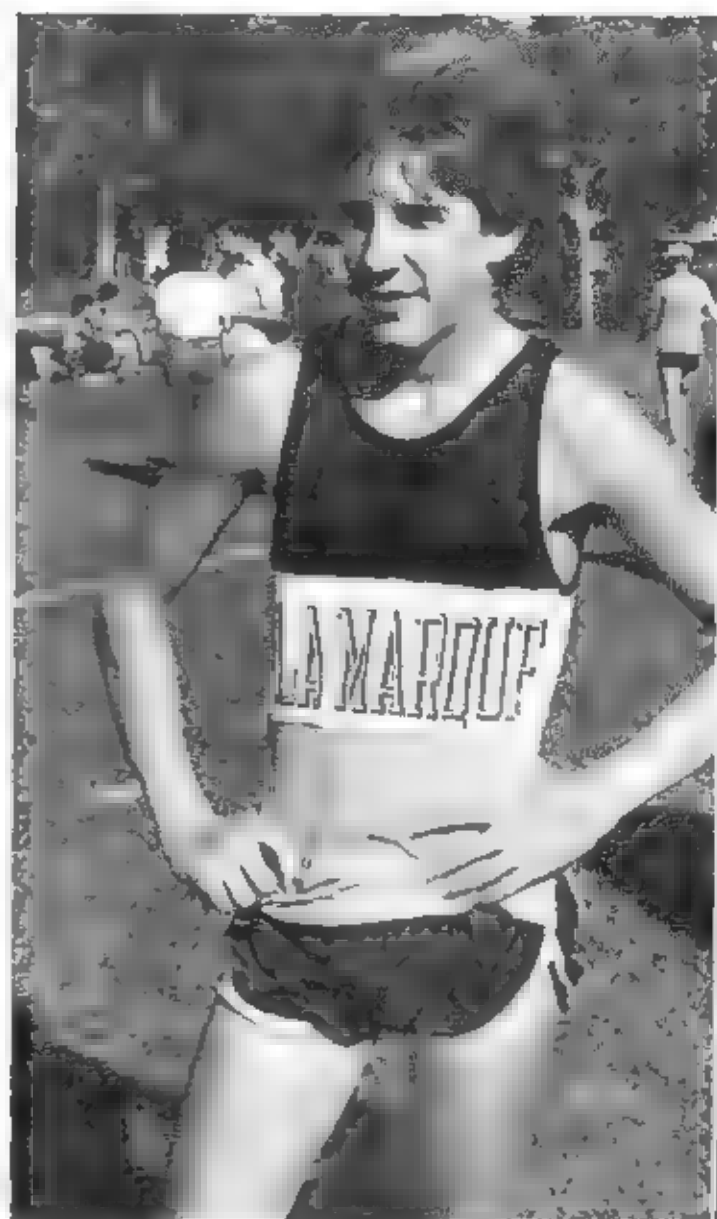

"If you consider that none of the team members were seniors, the teams did really well," Coach Walker also said. The girls placed fifth in district competition but the boys didn't have enough team members to qualify. Additional to their cross country meets, some members ran in road races.

Power lifting muscles their way to top

Determination, hard work and a lot of sweat paid off for the 84-85 power lifting team as they muscled their way to team and individual trophies.

Coach Larry Nowotny pointed out that, "strength is a direct correlation with performance." This team is gaining strength all the time with members of the team pushing several times their body weight in just three lifts, such as team member Frank Davis, who pushed up 1215 lbs. in only three lifts.

Frank, Ronald Smith, Leroy Truitt, represented LM at state and Frank brought home state honors for the team.

Golf scores upped

Boys' team average higher; Girls' place two medalists at district

Averaging 15 strokes better than last year's team and finishing in the top third in 7 of 8 tournaments over the year, the boys' golf team went to district competition.

With Gerald Landry, Carlos Gonzales, Daryl Smith, Chris Costlow, and Mike Petron leading the boys' team, they placed fourth in overall competition at district. Costlow had the lowest tournament average and Landry had the second lowest average.

The girls' team also went to district, but because of House Bill 72's effects, the team didn't have enough girls to compete for district; they had three and were required to have five. Two girls did take individual honors. Mary Dispensa placed fourth and Michelle Lind placing fifth. "I feel that the boys did well and that if the girls had enough players they could have taken first place at district," commented Coach Leroy Carey.

Besides the district tournament, the boys golf team also took third place at Texas City, fourth at Clear Creek and Brazoswood, and fifth at Eisenhower. The girls also went to tournaments but only had one individual honor.

Finally, with the swing of the last club and the final ball into the hole, Coach Carey announced his decision to hang the clubs up and retire from coaching.

"After 36 years, I feel that it's about time to enjoy the leisures of life," commented Coach Carey. Gerald Landry commented, "Coach Carey was a great coach and I'm sorry to see him leaving."

Gonzales leads team

Both tennis teams, boys and girls, attempted to outlast their competition throughout the season but unfortunately the Coogs usually ended up on the short end of the stick. The boys ended the season with a 1-6 district record while the girls did slightly better with a 2-5 mark.

Although the Coogs didn't play up to par, they had several standouts. Heading the boys' team was the number one double combination of Tom Spillar and Billy LeCompte. The team of Spillar and LeCompte was the most dependable in district competition posting a 3-4 record.

The girls tennis team was highlighted by Sammy Gonzales. Throughout the year Sammy placed high in several tournaments, and had an unprecedented 7-0 district record and went into the district tournament seeded first. Unfortunately she had to quit because of illness.

Water sports

Water Sports only pick up during the months of summer and sun. Everyday seems to be a Saturday in the months of June and July especially in this climate meant for water sports - summer style. The new trend in water activity was hydroskiing, a type of skiing.

Although this was catching on quickly, the water sport greats such as going to the beach, skiing, fishing and swimming were still favorites.

Looking Back

The year has come and gone, and as each class moves up the ladder of seniority and the Seniors prepare for the working world or college, they stop to retrace the steps they took this year.

House Bill 72 is a commonly used word now, And through this year we saw its many changes. But we managed to survive and with us we brought a successful year, kicking it off with Homecoming and Homecoming Queen Tracy Johnson. However after Christmas rolled around things began to change, as our SAEC president resigned and gave her leadership role to Vice President Betsy Henderson.

Despite the problems within the student government the Cougar basketball team managed to pull out with the Bi-District Championship and Vincent Carpenter took second in State in shot put.

And as the hustle and bustle of graduation caused mass chaos . . . LMHS still managed to survive.

Eddie Garcia and Gabriel Lopez provided between-the-play entertainment at the Cougar football games.

As the old cheerleading squad as well as old club officers, band members and particularly the senior class was replaced by the "new", one could sense in the air that the year was finally coming to an end.

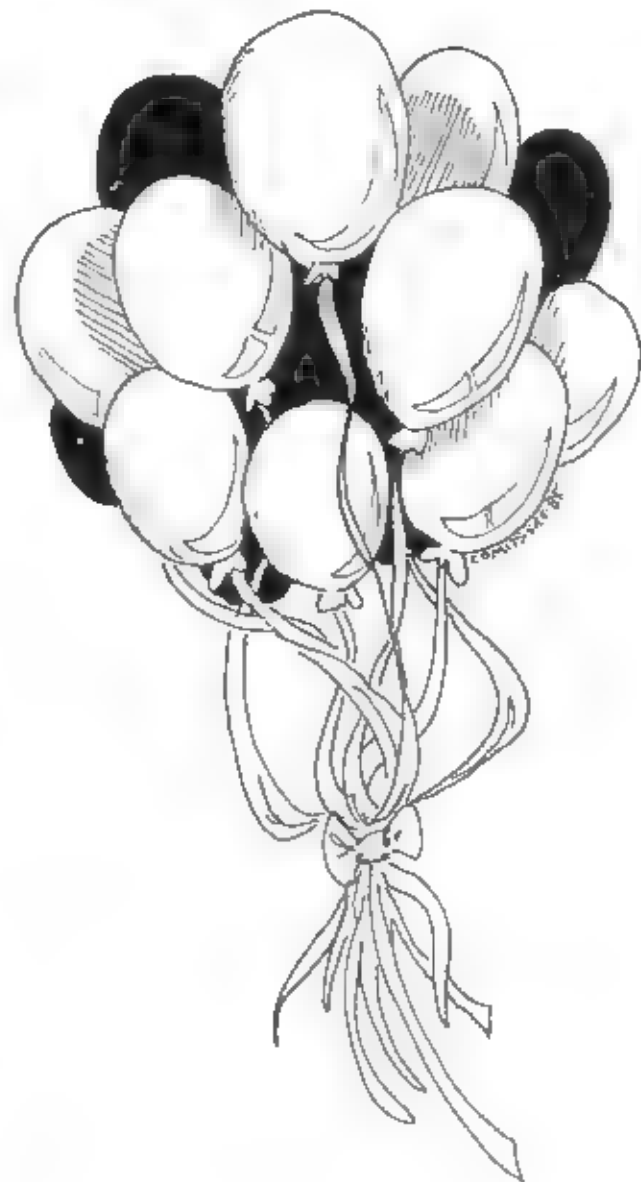

"Now class . . ." No it's not a new teacher it's just Jackie Joubert explaining to the class a day in American History.

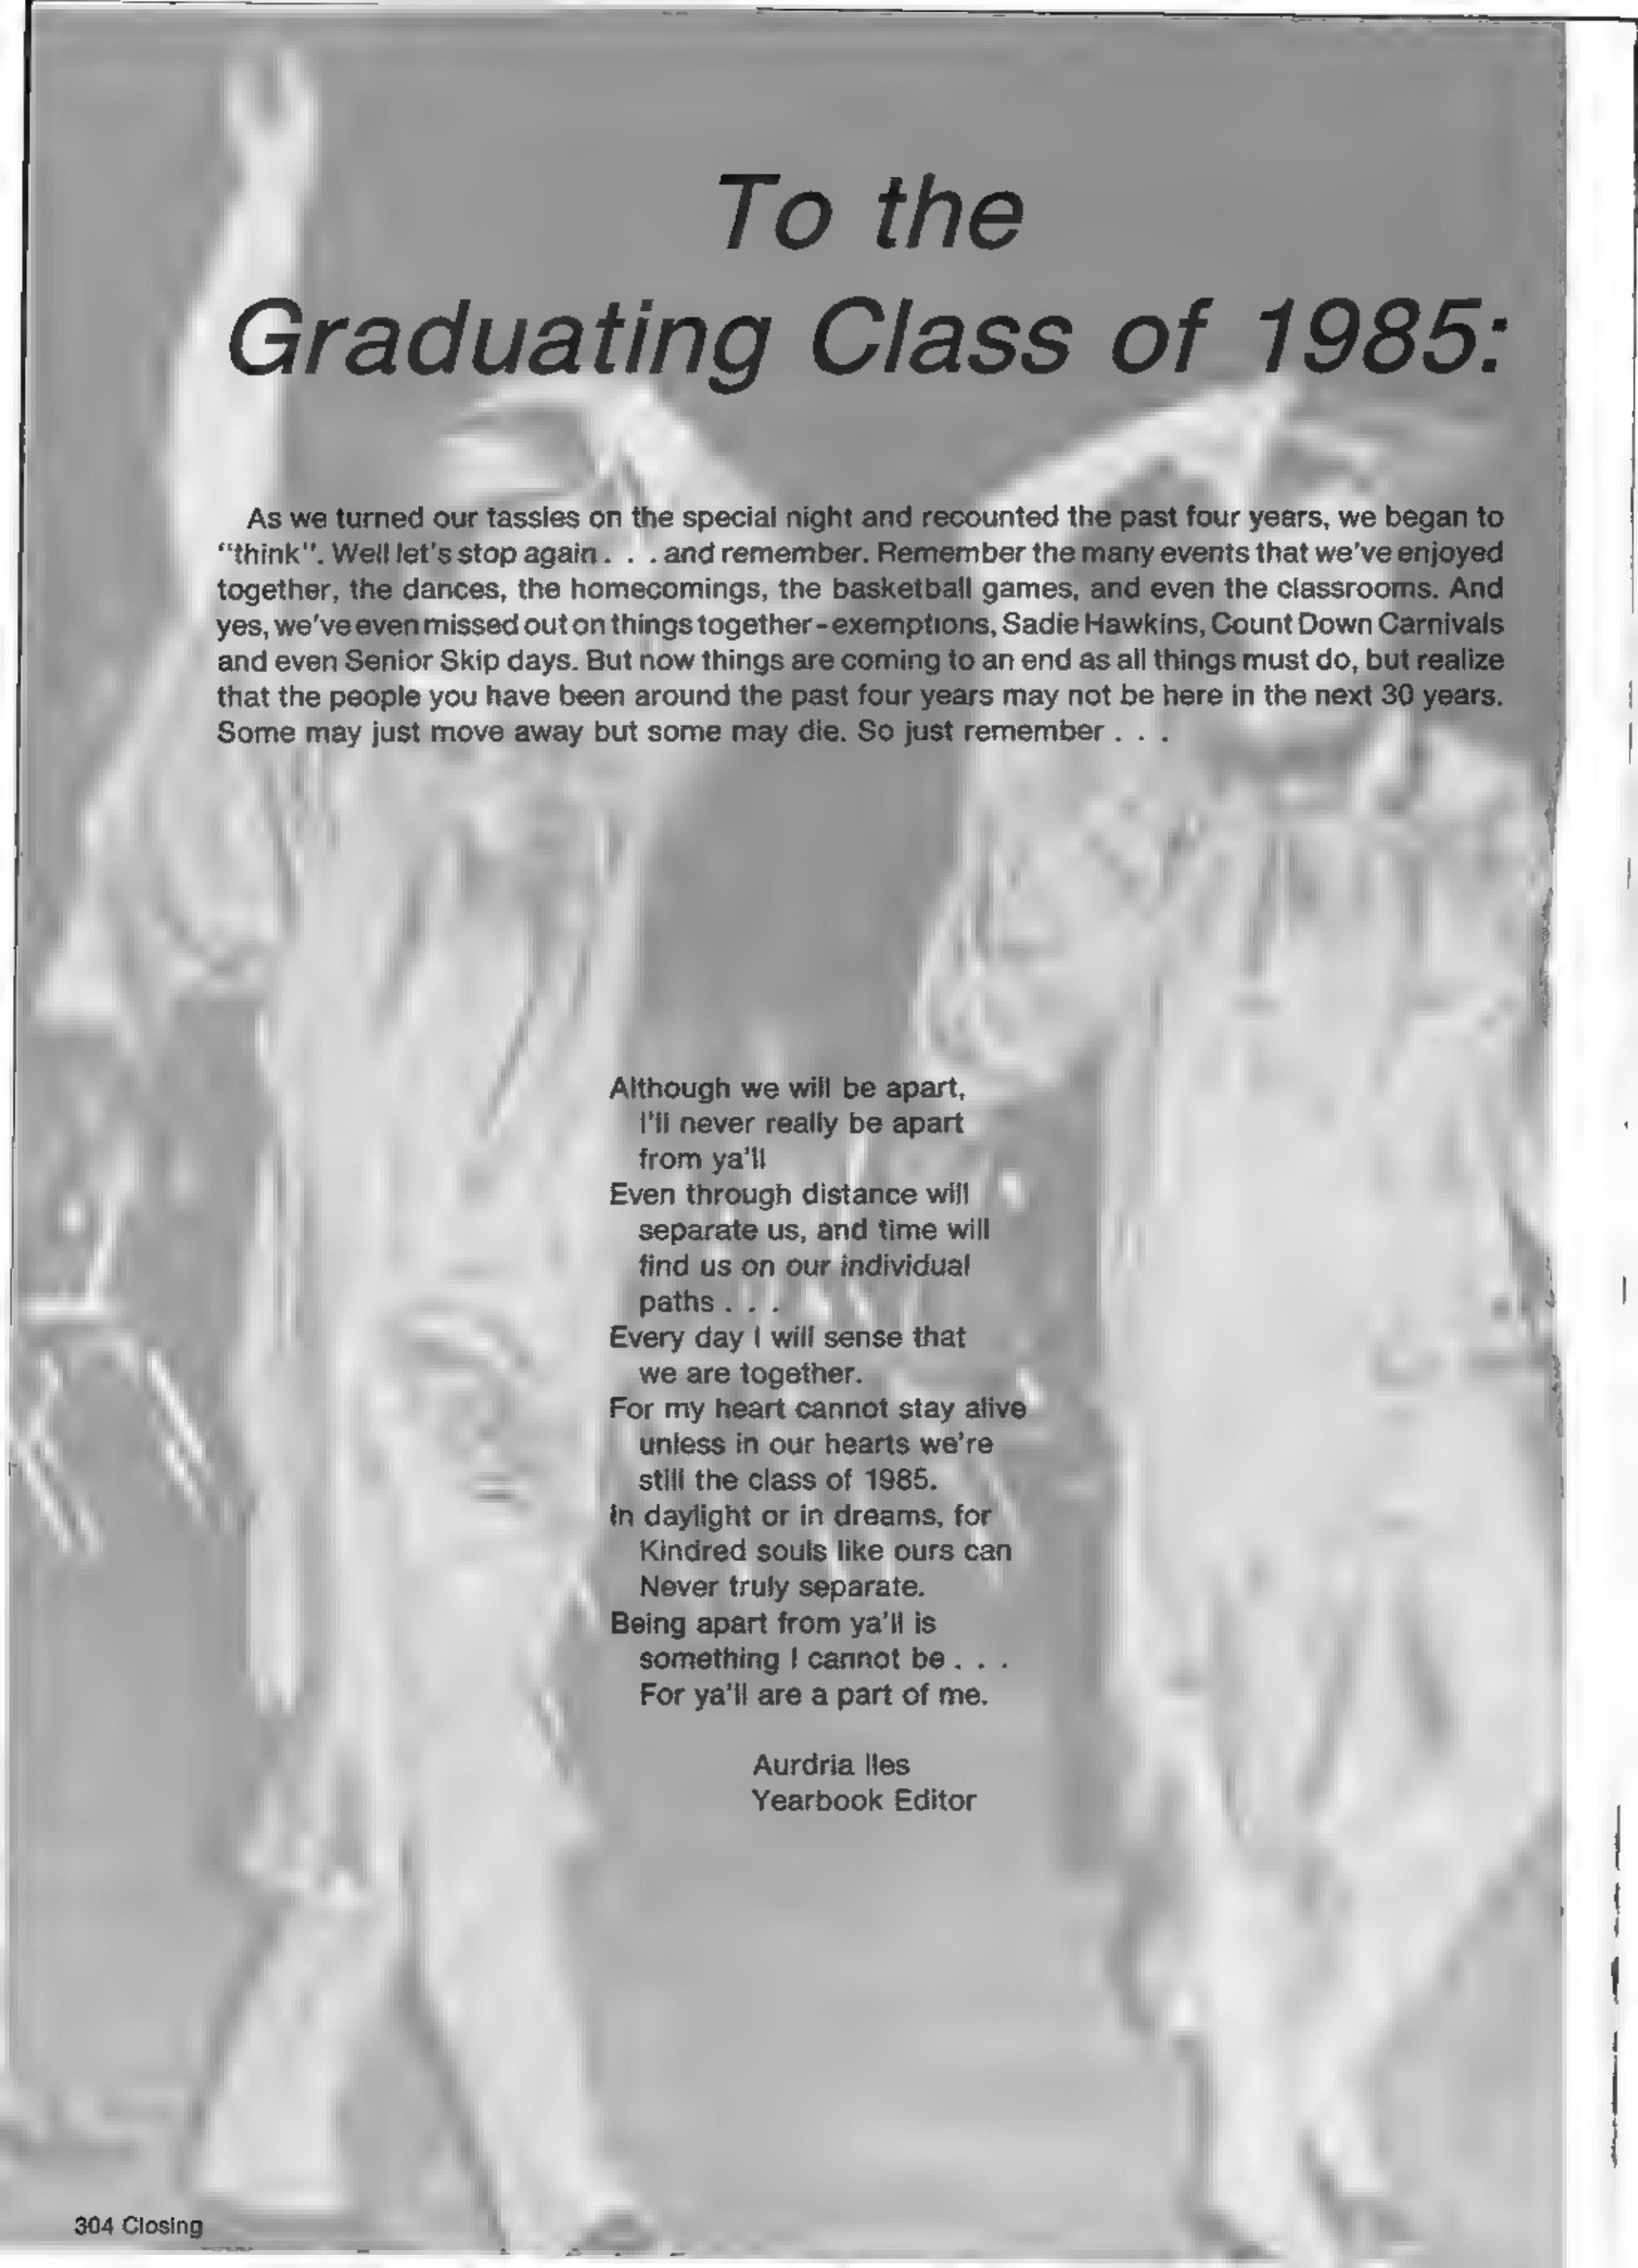

"If I have to smile for one more picture my face is going to crack!" Angela Balderas and Todd Alison take a rest from dancing at the first all "Senior Prom".

Excitement was the name of the game as students cheered not only for football but for basketball as well.

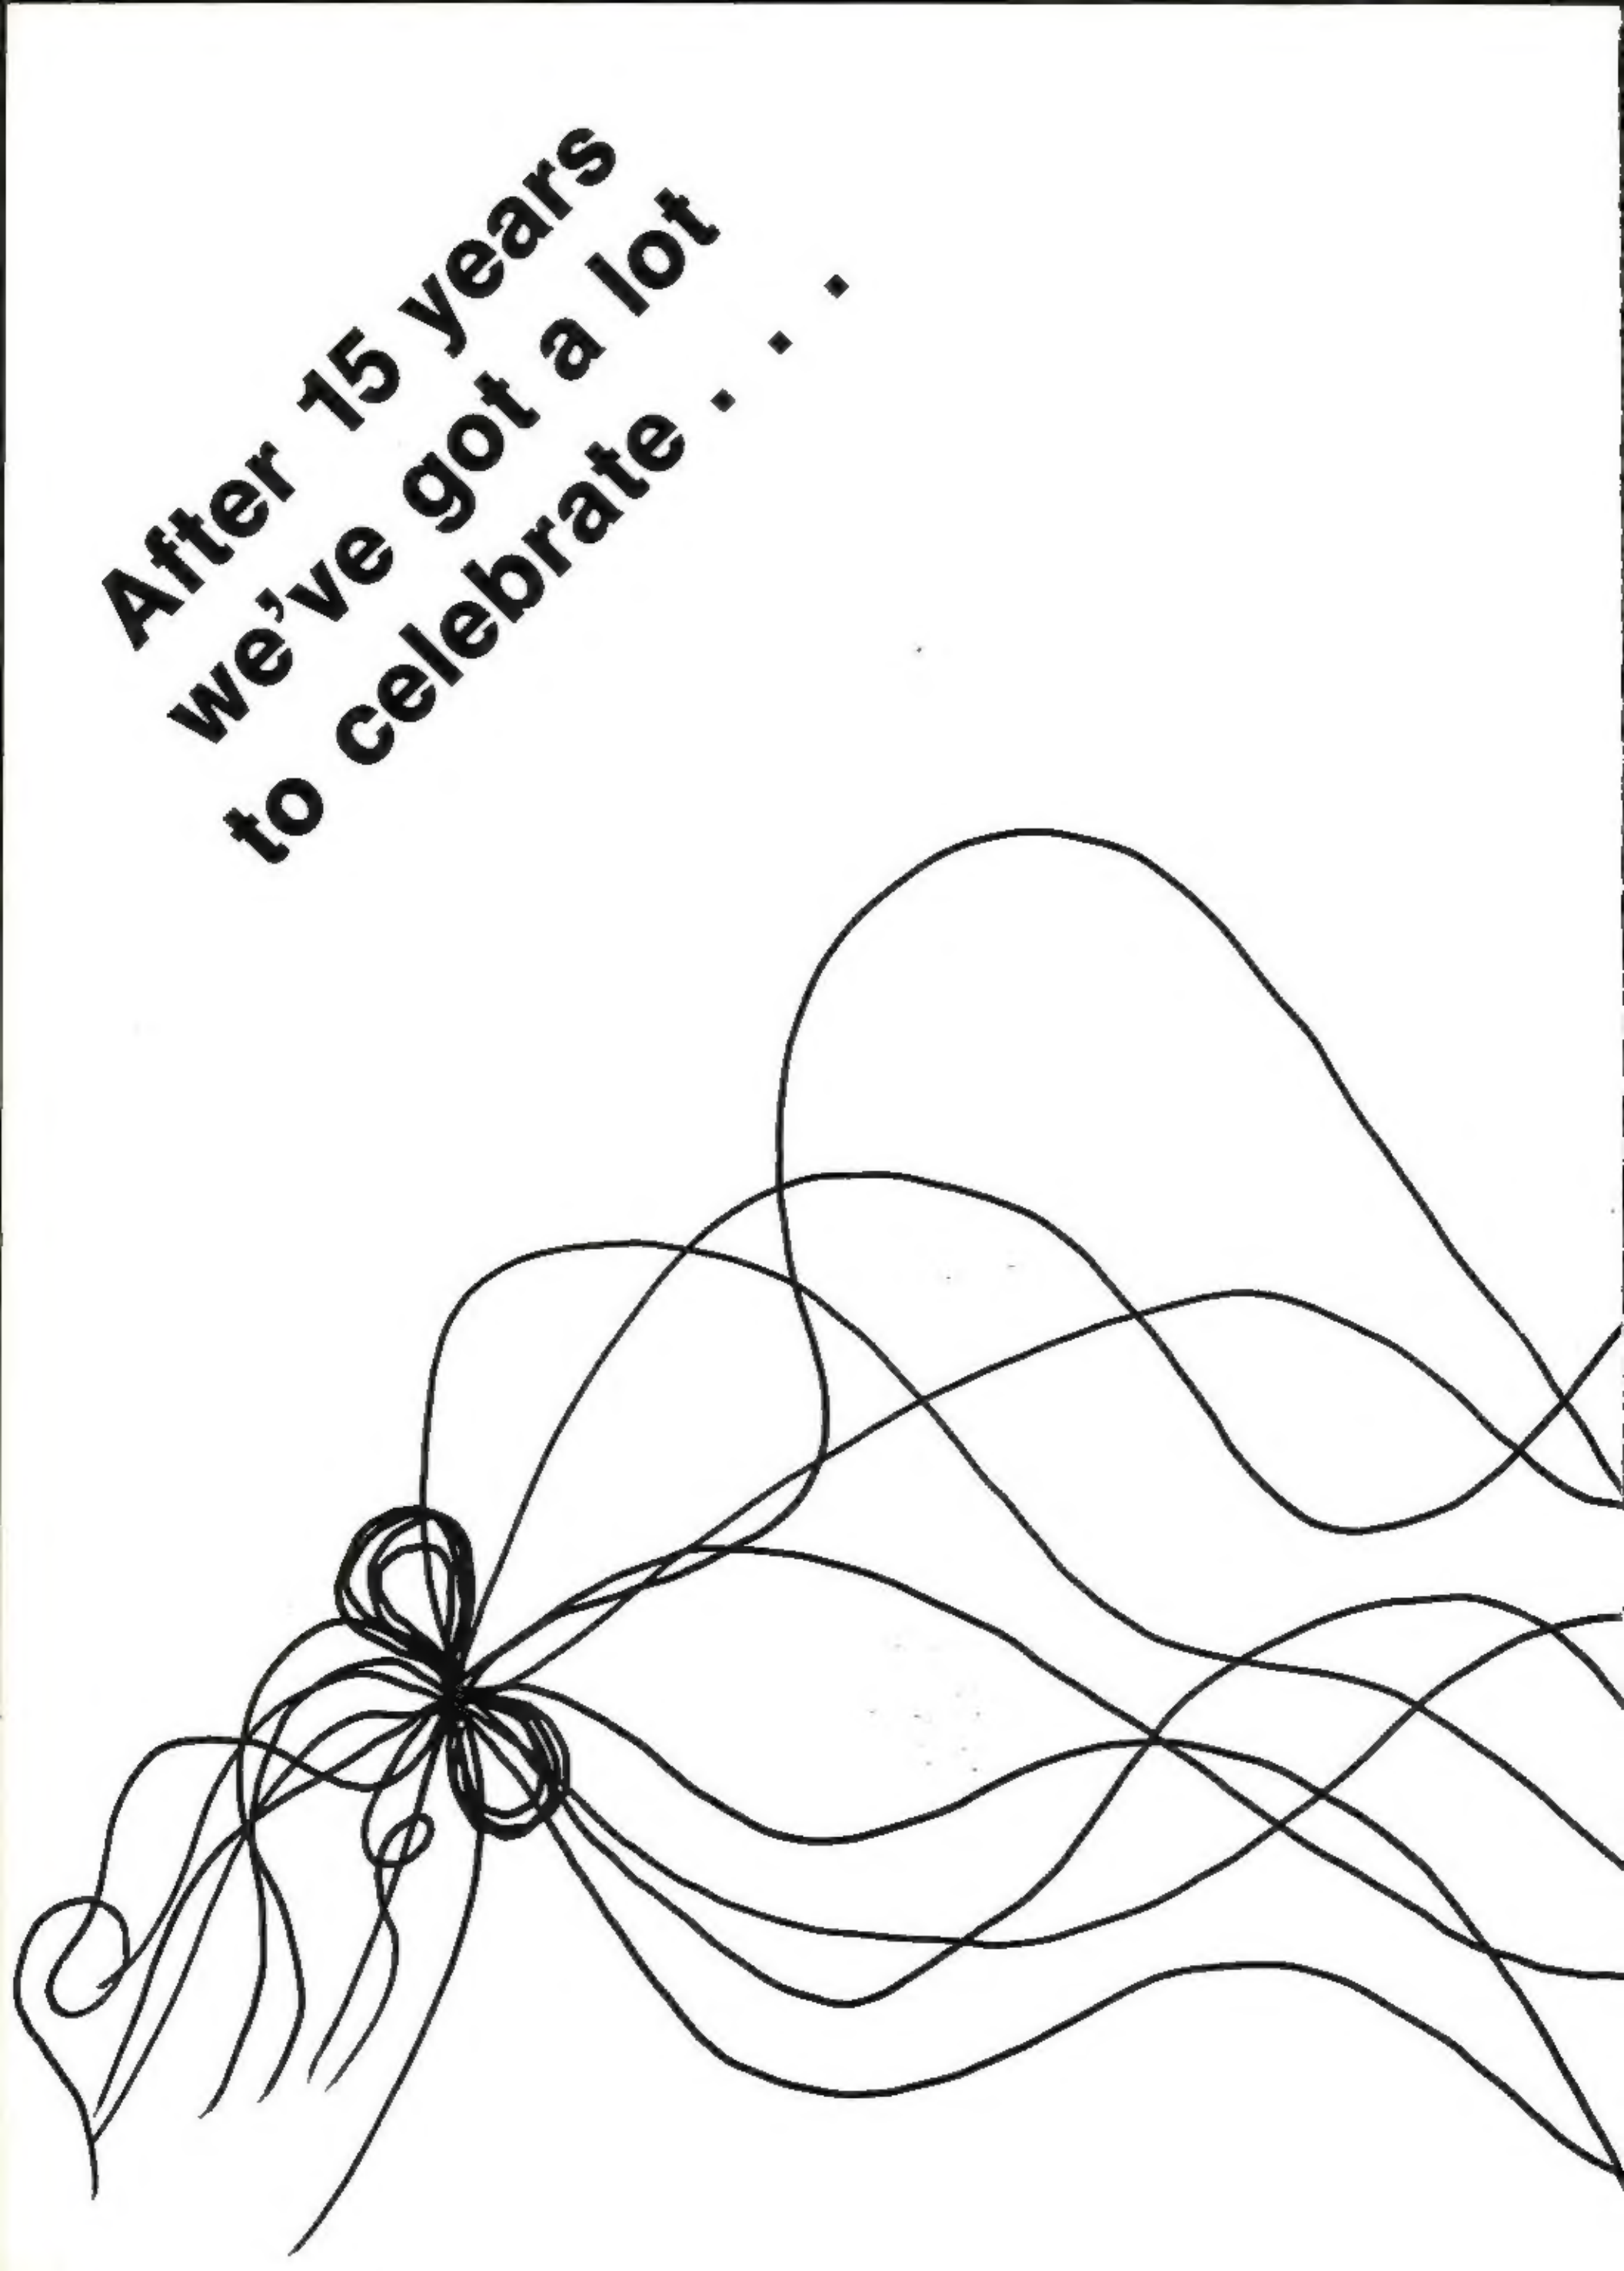

To the Graduating Class of 1985:

As we turned our tassels on the special night and recounted the past four years, we began to "think". Well let's stop again . . . and remember. Remember the many events that we've enjoyed together, the dances, the homecomings, the basketball games, and even the classrooms. And yes, we've even missed out on things together - exemptions, Sadie Hawkins, Count Down Carnivals and even Senior Skip days. But now things are coming to an end as all things must do, but realize that the people you have been around the past four years may not be here in the next 30 years. Some may just move away but some may die. So just remember . . .

Although we will be apart,
I'll never really be apart from ya'll
Even through distance will separate us, and time will find us on our individual paths . . .
Every day I will sense that we are together.
For my heart cannot stay alive unless in our hearts we're still the class of 1985.
In daylight or in dreams, for Kindred souls like ours can Never truly separate.
Being apart from ya'll is something I cannot be . . .
For ya'll are a part of me.
